Ave Lacks Power to Void Consolidation Vote

Educator's Word Final Is Report Mayor Will Ask Lawmakers Action

Mayor Edwin F. Radel today revealed that Gov. Harriman wrote of his lack of power to act toward voiding a local education board vote favoring school consolidation, and the mayor said he will determine what can be done through the State Legislature.

The mayor said he has not yet heard from Dr. James E. Allen Jr., state commissioner of education, who has also been asked to intervene, but it is expected that Dr. Allen's reply will be similar since local education boards are empowered, without holding referendums for the type of consolidation proposed here, to vote independently.

Responsible to Regents
After noting that Dr. Allen is responsible to the Board of Regents, which, in turn, is responsible to the Legislature, Mayor Radel said he would forward the same information as was sent recently to Albany, to State Senator E. Ogden Bush, of Walton, and Assemblyman Kenneth L. Wilson, of Woodstock.

Gov. Harriman, in a letter dated April 8, wrote to Mayor Radel:

"Thank you for your letter of April 7. I read it with accompanying material with a great deal of interest, and I can understand well your concern.

Can't Set Aside Decision
"The fact is, however, that the Governor has no legal jurisdiction over administration of the education system in our state. This is strictly within the province of the state education department, whose commissioner is responsible to the Board of Regents. Thus, it is impossible for the Governor to set aside a decision of a local board of education."

Vote Was 7-1
The local education board, on the same night when a referendum vote showed the consolidation proposal defeated here by 278 votes, after discussion, favored joining with other area districts by a 7-1 vote.

Consolidation had won in a rural district vote, 2,166 against 763, and a state education department report last Friday, indicated that the total vote, in all districts, will be a factor considered by the state department.

The Common Council, in adopting its petition April 3 to be forwarded to Albany in an

Ave Rejects Bid to Open Milk Markets For Licensing of More State Dealers

ALBANY — Gov. Harriman today rejected an attempt to open up milk markets for licensing of more dealers.

The governor vetoed a bill that would have written into the agriculture law a new definition of the term "destructive competition."

The agriculture commissioner now may refuse to grant a dealer's license if he concludes it would lead to destructive competition in a milk market.

He can make such a finding on the basis that there is already a licensed dealer or unused plant facilities in the market.

Harriman said the proposed definition was "neither well-founded nor necessary." He argued also that there was no evidence the current law was unfair.

The bill would have defined destructive competition as that tend-

Blaze Destroys Dentist's Home Valued at $50,000

A large two-floor eight-room home of Dr. Solomon Shapiro, Kerhonkson dentist, valued at $50,000, and situated in the Granite section of the township on the Rock Haven Road, was completely destroyed by fire Thursday night, Ellenville state police reported.

Dr. and Mrs. Shapiro, unaware of their loss, are en route to New York City from a Florida vacation. They are expected to arrive in the city early this evening.

According to Cpl. Nicholas Leakes of Ellenville troopers, the alarm was sounded about 9:45 p. m. by plumbers working in the building at the time. Ker-

Relyea Proclaims Arbor Day April 25

Charles Relyea, chairman of the board of supervisors, has proclaimed Friday, April 25, Arbor Day in Ulster County as proposed by the Commissioner of Education.

Originated in 1872, the practice of setting aside a day for the planting of trees has spread throughout the United States and abroad. Not a legal day in New York State, Labor Day has been observed by proclamation over the years.

As chairman of the board of supervisors, observance of the day was proclaimed by Relyea as a day for planting trees, shrubs and vines and for "implanting in young people and adults a love of nature and for teaching them the necessity of planting suitable trees in proper places, now, in order to enjoy them in the future."

ing to "prevent existing licenses in a market from earning a fair return on a prudent investment." It also would have banned the definition the commissioner now uses.

Harriman said Agriculture Commissioner Daniel J. Carey had objected that the definition would be unworkable because the words "fair" and "prudent" were strictly matters of opinion.

Assemblywoman Janet Hill Gordon, Norwich Republican, sponsored the bill.

In action on other bills left with him by the 1958 Legislature, Harriman:

1. Signed a measure designed to help school teachers combat juvenile delinquency in their classrooms. It will allow teachers or principals to begin court action to have unruly pupils declared wayward minors. Previously, only a parent, law officer or welfare agent could do so.

2. Approved a bill extending for another year—to June 30, 1959—the state's so-called security risk law. It permits state and local governments to fire from sensitive jobs employees who belong to subversive organizations on the Board of Regents' list.

3. Vetoed a bill that would have authorized school districts to hire guards to direct traffic at school crossings. He said this was a responsibility of the community, not the schools.

4. Rejected for a second time a measure that would have lowered from 14 to 12 the age at which children might obtain a work permit to help harvest berries, fruits and vegetables.

5. Signed a measure that bestows the name "Castleton-Hudson Bridge" to the span that will carry the Thruway's Berkshire spur across the Hudson River between Selkirk and Castleton-Hudson.

Sees Need To Expand Benefits

Jobless Boost Is Noted by Kennedy

WASHINGTON — Unemployment figures for March showed a need for quick action by Congress to expand jobless benefits, Sen. Kennedy (D-Mass.) said today.

Although the March increase in total unemployment was limited to 25,000, Kennedy said in a statement, "the shocking fact is that industrial employment has dropped by 200,000 when it should have been making a seasonal recovery as did agricultural and construction employment."

Seek Permanent Changes

Kennedy and 17 other senators are sponsoring a bill to make permanent changes in the unemployment insurance system, including uniform provision for 30 weeks of benefits. Maximums now vary from 16 to 30 weeks, with most states providing 26 weeks of payments. The bill also would increase the amounts of weekly benefits, which also vary from state to state.

President Eisenhower has proposed an emergency 50 per cent increase in the period of benefits, with no increase in the weekly amounts.

Hits Stopgap Plans

Kennedy said the administration proposal "ignores the need for permanent improvement in state standards," and added "no temporary stopgap solution is enough."

Heads Palsy Drive Opening on May 1

Appointment of W. Henry Haltermann, of 299 Main Street, as general chairman of the 1958 finance campaign, was announced today by Dr. Henry L. Bibby, president of United Cerebral Palsy of Ulster County, Inc.

A goal of $32,000 is sought in the drive, which opens May 1.

Leaders Meet Tuesday

Other chairmen, including those in the townships, are expected to be named at a meeting scheduled Tuesday at 7:30 p. m. in the city laboratory library.

Haltermann urged county residents to make a concerted effort to assure the success of this year's $32,000 fund-raising campaign.

He noted that a total of 4,088 treatments were given at the local Cerebral Palsy Center, 400 Broadway, during 1957—in physical therapy, speech-hearing therapy and occupational therapy.

The average monthly case load at the center was 130, he said. Thursday's session was a hour and a half late in getting underway due to a long committee meeting and conference.

Howard Asks Agenda for Supervisors

A resolution of Supervisor James F. Howard (D) of the 10th Ward calling for an agenda of board meetings to be sent each supervisor five days prior to the meetings, will come up for consideration at the next regular meeting.

The resolution, offered at the March meeting, was tabled at that time after a lengthy discussion.

Thursday evening Supervisor Howard asked when the motion was to be brought up for a vote.

He stated if he was not informed by the majority party "how long it will be tabled" he intended to bring it up at the next meeting.

McHugh Answers Question

Majority Leader Jesse McHugh (R), stated that the resolution would be brought up at the next regular meeting.

The resolution for an agenda was proposed to give members of the board some knowledge as to what business was to come before the meetings in time to permit some consideration of important matters and also as a method of speeding up the sessions. Long caucuses just prior to the meetings have delayed opening sessions as long as two hours.

Will Study CD Plans on Aid

Supervisors Postpone Action on 2-Way Radio

Approval of a contract for installation of two-way radio for volunteer firemen, the sheriff's office and county highway department was again postponed by the board of supervisors Thursday evening. This time to permit a study of the plans and specifications by the Civil Defense authorities to ascertain whether the proposed plans will meet with Federal approval so as to make Federal aid possible.

If Civil Defense approval is granted one half of the cost will be borne by Federal funds.

Says Money Available

Major H. Edgar Timmerman, Ulster County CD director, reported he would seek that approval on Monday. He assured the board that Federal money was available. Approval of Federal funds was granted in November 1957, but payment must come from the 1957-58 appropriation which expires on June 30, 1958. However there is a "cut-off" date when funds are exhausted and the board seeks to take action on the local two-way radio project in sufficient time to secure Federal participation.

Major Timmerman assured the board that money was available. However, if Federal approval is granted the plans and specifications, the board may meet in special session and award a contract prior to the regular May meeting. The board adjourned subject to the call of the chair.

Castro Chances Are Slim

For Ousting Cuban Head

HAVANA, Cuba — Fidel Castro's chances of ousting President Fulgencio Batista faded today after the failure of his forces' second attempt at total war and a general strike.

Bomb throwing young rebels tried yesterday to touch off an uprising in Santiago but national police quickly smothered them with machinegun fire. The number of casualties in the southeast Cuban port city could not be learned immediately.

On Wednesday, rebels in Havana and Matanzas called a general strike and popular rallies. That time, too, the public did not respond and police quelled the outbreak. Forty-five rebels and two policemen were killed.

Today, a Cuban army plane crashed in flames in the exclusive Miramar residential district of Havana, killing two persons and injuring 15.

The plane demolished a grocery store and adjoining residence. The craft burst into flames as it was taking off from nearby Camp Columbia airfield.

Killed were the pilot and a Cuban civilian who apparently was trapped under the flaming debris of the grocery store.

The explosion of the plane's gasoline tanks was heard throughout most of Havana, touching off rumors of fresh rebel bombing. The plane, described as a fighter aircraft, was carrying bombs but apparently these failed to explode.

From his guerrilla headquarters in the Sierra Maestra of southeastern Cuba, Castro continued to direct sabotage and attacks on communications — the kind of campaign he has waged against Batista for 16 months.

But the two failures to win popular support for his proclaimed all-out war to overthrow Batista apparently left Castro without any immediate chance of success. The defeat in Santiago was a particularly hard blow, since Castro's main strength and theater of operations is the surrounding Oriente Province.

Only a massive uprising of Cubans or defection of many of Batista's 38,000 troops could assure victory for Castro. Neither appeared likely in the foreseeable future. The armed forces have remained steadfast with former Sergeant Batista, and he has legalized killing of strike agitators.

Probe Data 'Leak' Is Queried

2 Reuter Aides Also Questioned

Possible "leaking" of Reuter Commission testimony to unauthorized persons has touched off a grand jury investigation.

Appearing before the grand jury Thursday afternoon were City Judge Aaron E. Klein and his law associate, Justice of the Peace William P. Curran of Rosendale and Chief Investigator George B. Chenkin and investigator David Greenberg of the Reuter staff.

Appear Voluntarily

City Judge Klein and Justice Curran appeared under subpoena while Chief Investigator Chenkin and Investigator Greenberg appeared "voluntarily" after they learned subpoenas had been issued. Chenkin and Greenberg were accompanied by Chief Counsel Benjamin F. Nolan who has been in charge of the local force of the Reuter Commission.

District Attorney Howard C. St. John presented the matter to the grand jury after Judge Klein withdrew a motion for inspection of the grand jury minutes last Monday in the Floyd M. Krom and Bruce V. Clarke cases and announced he would be ready for trial of the burglary, unlawful entry and petit larceny indictments against the two former Kingston police officers when the cases were reached.

At that time St. John inquired whether defense counsel has obtained information from the Reuter Commission which may have been disclosed in the probe here in relation to police irregularities.

Asks Continuance

Klein made no statement and District Attorney St. John requested a continuance of the two cases until April 14 in order that he might check and ascertain whether defense counsel possessed information which had not been made available to the district attorney's office.

In a statement issued today District Attorney St. John said City Judge Klein had not been asked to sign a waiver before going before the grand jury.

The sole purpose of summoning witnesses Thursday before the grand jury in the "leak" probe was to ascertain whether there had been criminal "leaking" of information from the Reuter investigation to any unauthorized person, St. John said.

Quizzed as Citizen
Judge Klein was interrogated merely as a private citizen and no questions were asked of him concerning his profession or concerning his appearance as defense counsel in the pending police officer cases, St. John said.

In a statement issued shortly after he had appeared before the grand jury Judge Klein said the district attorney is "perverting the grand jury process."

The first intimation that a Reuter "leak" was being investigated by the grand jury came Thursday afternoon when Chenkin and Greenberg appeared with Chief Counsel Benjamin F. Nolan. After Chenkin and Greenberg had signed a waiver they entered the grand jury room.

Chenkin Recalled

Both paid brief visits before the grand jury. Chenkin being recalled a second time after his first appearance.

Following their appearance before the grand jury, Nolan, who appeared as counsel, and did not enter the grand jury room, told a Freeman reporter he had "no comment." However it was intimated that Chenkin and Greenberg had been unable to enlighten the grand jurors and knew nothing of the alleged "leaks."

After the members of the Reuter staff left, City Judge Klein and Justice of the Peace William P. Curran were subpoenaed before the grand jury. They did not appear until approximately 5 p. m.

Judge Klein said he and his associate, Justice Curran had been questioned whether they had been given any information concerning the Reuter investigation. He said they had refused to answer.

Klein Declines Answer

Last February Judge Klein, appearing for former Police Officers Krom and Clarke, asked for an adjournment of the cases in County Court so he could apply to Governor Harriman for any information disclosed by the

Retired Rehab Chairman Feted By Committee

Mrs. William McNamee, recently retired chairman of the rehabilitation committee of Ulster County TB and Health Association was honored with a best wishes party at a recent meeting of the group at the association office.

In behalf of the members, Edmund P. Rochford, vice president of the TB and Health Association, presented Mrs. McNamee with a gift in recognition of her work with and for the patients, through the service of the rehabilitation committee. W. Scott VanKeuren, father of Mrs. McNamee and her pastor, the Rev. Richard Guice, with Mr. McNamee, attended the party. Mrs. Jacob Myers, Miss Irene Kaplan, Mrs. Sam Feldman and Mrs. John C. Salapatis were in charge of refreshments.

Committees Report

Reports were given by subcommittees working for the patients in the Ulster County Tuberculosis Hospital and the Ulster County Infirmary. Miss Catherine Cater, chairman of the birthday committee for several years at the TB Hospital, who has accepted the task at the Infirmary, reported that the Junior League and Lions Club have supplied cakes to patients at the Infirmary and the Junior Married Women's Club are still making cakes for the patients at the TB Hospital. Patients at both institutions look forward with great pleasure to these remembrances for their birthdays, it was reported by Mrs. Hilda Yerry, nurse in charge at the Infirmary, and Dr. Herbert F. Schwartz, superintendent of the Ulster County Tuberculosis Hospital.

Miss Florence Cordts, chairman of the visiting committee, reported that her group was kept busy for a few days each week, making purchases in the Kingston stores for patients at the TB Hospital. To aid the occupational therapy program, the patients need many items to make up articles which they complete during this period of their prescribed treatment. Charles Tarsia, occupational therapist, reported on the program which he directs in both the TB Hospital and the Ulster County Infirmary.

Seeks Movies

Edmund P. Rochford gave a report for the committee who have been charged with the procurement of a moving picture projector for the patients at the Ulster County Infirmary. Mrs. Yerry said the patients at this institution have two television sets but are in need of more entertainment. Moving pictures are especially enjoyed by the elderly folks who would appreciate having a regular program of travel and western films.

Several contributions have already come in to the rehabilitation group, while two of the Kingston Service Clubs have shown an interest in assisting financially with the program for the infirmary patients. Through S. Rudisch, representative member, several radios have recently been donated for the infirmary by B'nai B'rith. Mrs. Salapatis reported she is working with various organizations and individuals for the presentation of a third television set to the TB Hospital, so the women and children might have their choice of programs while the men are viewing baseball, boxing and other sports.

Offer Assistance

Entertainment for both institutions was discussed. Mrs. William Pratt, representing the Pomona Granges of Ulster County, offered their assistance for a special entertainment in June. The Kingston Musical Society through Miss Anne Goldrick, their representatives on the rehabilitation committee, reported their willingness to put on a program for both institutions in May. Miss Hazel M. Steed, executive director of the Ulster County TB and Health Association, said that the association has now completed the purchase of new headquarters, and as soon as necessary renovations are made the association will move from the county building to their new home at 124 Green Street.

The next meeting of the rehabilitation committee will be held on June 10.

LET THE FACTS SPEAK

The poisonous notion that the people cannot be trusted with the facts keeps cropping up in Washington. It was championed again recently when an official of the Department of Agriculture ordered 2,500 copies of a report on farm population burned. It is a piece of public good fortune that this incident has been disclosed by a House government operations subcommittee.

The farm population contained 12 pages of quotations from farmers about the current situation and its bearing on farm population. Don Paarlberg, the assistant secretary who ordered the pamphlets burned, said that though "some of the comments were enlightening, they were personal comments limited in many cases to very particular circumstances which could not be generalized." Because of this, he said, "the use of the quotations might serve to confuse rather than enlighten the public on trends in farm population."

In other words, the public is too stupid to draw sound conclusions from the comments of farmers on their own situation. In other words, the public cannot be relied upon not to make unwise generalizations on the basis of these comments. And therefore, since the public is so dull-witted, the information had better be burned rather than made public.

Putting the matter thus may seem a bit harsh. Doubtless Paarlberg and his associates did not think through to those damning judgments. But in a sense that is exactly the point; public officials should think more about getting information out to the people, and less about trying to manipulate public opinion.

Columbia University is striving to simplify its catalogues and pamphlets by eliminating high-flown and complicated language, known as collegese. Services of one or more expert newspaper copy editors might prove helpful.

WORK FOR YOUTHS

Sen. Hubert Humphrey's proposal for a 150,000-member Youth Conservation Corps should not be dismissed lightly, even by those who feel that the recession has not yet gone deep enough to warrant anything like the CCC of depression days. For quite aside from its debatable merits as an anti-recession weapon, a Conservation Corps has attractive arguments in its favor.

There are two principal values in such a program. The first is that many projects mapped out by such federal agencies as the National Park Service, the Forest Service, the Fish and Wildlife Service and so forth need to be undertaken. The great majority of these projects would be of benefit to the general public. The second big argument in favor of a Conservation Corps is that it would provide good, healthful outdoor work for youths and young men who otherwise might be idle.

Idleness is one of various causes that contribute to juvenile delinquency. Moreover, thousands of young Americans face the prospect of growing up without ever having had the chance to do satisfying, constructive work in the open country. It is an experience that every youth should have.

The cost of such a program might be prohibitive. Senator Humphrey wants the government to provide transportation, food, lodging and clothing, with pay the same as that of Army privates. He proposes a 10-year program to cost about a billion dollars a year. That is a lot of money, but the project might be worth it.

When a couple in Italy celebrated their 72nd wedding anniversary the 96-year-old husband said that for a man to have a successful marriage he should "never listen to his wife." The old gentleman probably would admit that there have been occasions when even he at least pretended to listen.

'These Days'

By GEORGE SOKOLSKY

MILITARY REORGANIZATION

There are some things most of us cannot do. For instance, I don't know how to design a dress like Dior, paint a picture like Winston Churchill, play the fiddle like Zino Francescatti. Also, I could not reorganize the military of the United States.

Admitting these limitations, what should the role of citizens of a free country, engaged in war, be concerning the necessary reorganization in the Pentagon? Constitutionally, the answer is simple—over-simple. We are the bosses; we have the votes; we can do as we please. We can bring every kind of pressure on Congress to reorganize the military according to our collective theories.

But do we know what we are talking about? I met a man the other day, a bright-looking, obviously successful businessman who shook his head violently at the thought of a unified service. When I asked him why not, he said that the United States would never stand for that. So I asked him, why not? At that, he became annoyed. He said to me, why yes? I replied, I did not know why yes or why not. Did he?

I read a long document which goes by the name of the Rockefeller Report. It is an interesting document. But the question arose in my mind: what do these people actually know about the immediate problems of defense? How much data was furnished this group which is unavailable to other Americans? What data was provided this group that has been unavailable to Congress which is required to pass on appropriation bills?

The role of Congress comes into question at this point. It is Congress which has to provide for the defense of the country and it is Congress which finally decides the character of our defense at any rate through the appropriations to various agencies. Without Congressional appropriations, the various services can have no funds at all. But how much exact information, exact and precise and up-to-date information, does Congress have?

Are hearings the best way to adduce information? When one reads the transcripts of such hearings, they seem so wasteful of time and thought. For instance, General James H. Doolittle, testifying before the Senate Preparedness Investigating Subcommittee, made this statement:

"I believe the third reason she (Russia) is ahead is because she is sacrificing more than we are. She has a true arms economy. We have, I am afraid, something of a butter economy."

"Economists estimate that about one-fourth of Russia's gross national product goes into her military. In our case it is about 8½ per cent, or roughly one-third as much relatively."

In my copy, some previous reader of the transcript sharply underlined the contrast between an "arms economy and a butter economy," presumably for a headline. But what does it mean in precise terms? Does General Doolittle really wish to advocate that to achieve a more perfect defense organization, the United States give up its political and social institutions which developed our high standard of life? Perhaps war or the preparation for war will become so costly that it will destroy the characteristics of our civilization and reduce us to the condition of Uzbeks.

I have read all the testimony given before this committee. Some of it is intensely significant; much of it is oratory. For instance, this colloquy did not impress me:

"Mr. Weiss. Can you give the committee any suggestions or any advice as to how they can be helpful in seeing that they do get enough?"

"General Doolittle. Well, this committee is doing in my mind the most important job right now that can be done, and that is, assisting in the alerting of the American public to the threat that we face, and I am quite sure that an alerted American public will react properly and will support the legislation and the Administration in the things that they have to have and they have to do."

Alert the people to what? What are the people to do? Pay more taxes in a period of receding income? Then one asks the question as to why the military is so wasteful; as to why it has been impossible to get the military to agree to a unified, standardized inventory so that the three services do not compete against each other for canned hamburger and shoes for soldiers and sailors? Too Many Drugs Too Often

Can Cause Serious Trouble

BY EDWIN P. JORDAN, M.D.

Written for NEA Service

A letter just received, from which I should like to make a long quotation, brings out the important fact that our modern potent drugs should not be taken carelessly, and that while they have important uses they can also lead to serious difficulties.

The letter names three drugs which the writer has taken regularly for some time.

"Soon I began to notice," he says, "that I was terribly drowsy most of the day. But I was usually able to keep awake when necessary, by drinking large quantities of black coffee and taking caffeine tablets."

"What I did not notice, but what my wife and others near me noticed, was that I had also become indifferent to my fate, not only when driving a car but also when faced with the necessity of working."

"I just didn't seem to care whether I got killed or not, or whether I did my work or not."

THE LETTER continues, "A few weeks after starting to take the drugs I had a peculiar experience. First I noticed an enormously increased restlessness. I simply could not sit still or do any work at my desk."

"Instead, I was obliged to be physically active all day and most of the night. Though I went to bed, I was unable to remain there and worked at manual tasks until 4 a. m. when, finally, I succumbed to several sleeping pills."

"The following day I was even more restless and became aware that something totally unprecedented was happening to me. That afternoon I began to salivate so rapidly that I could not swallow the rosey saliva and suddenly realized that I had the symptoms of some kind of poisoning."

"I immediately stopped all the drugs, but it was not until about a day and a half later that I had returned to normal."

THE WRITER has almost certainly been poisoned by taking too many drugs for too long a time.

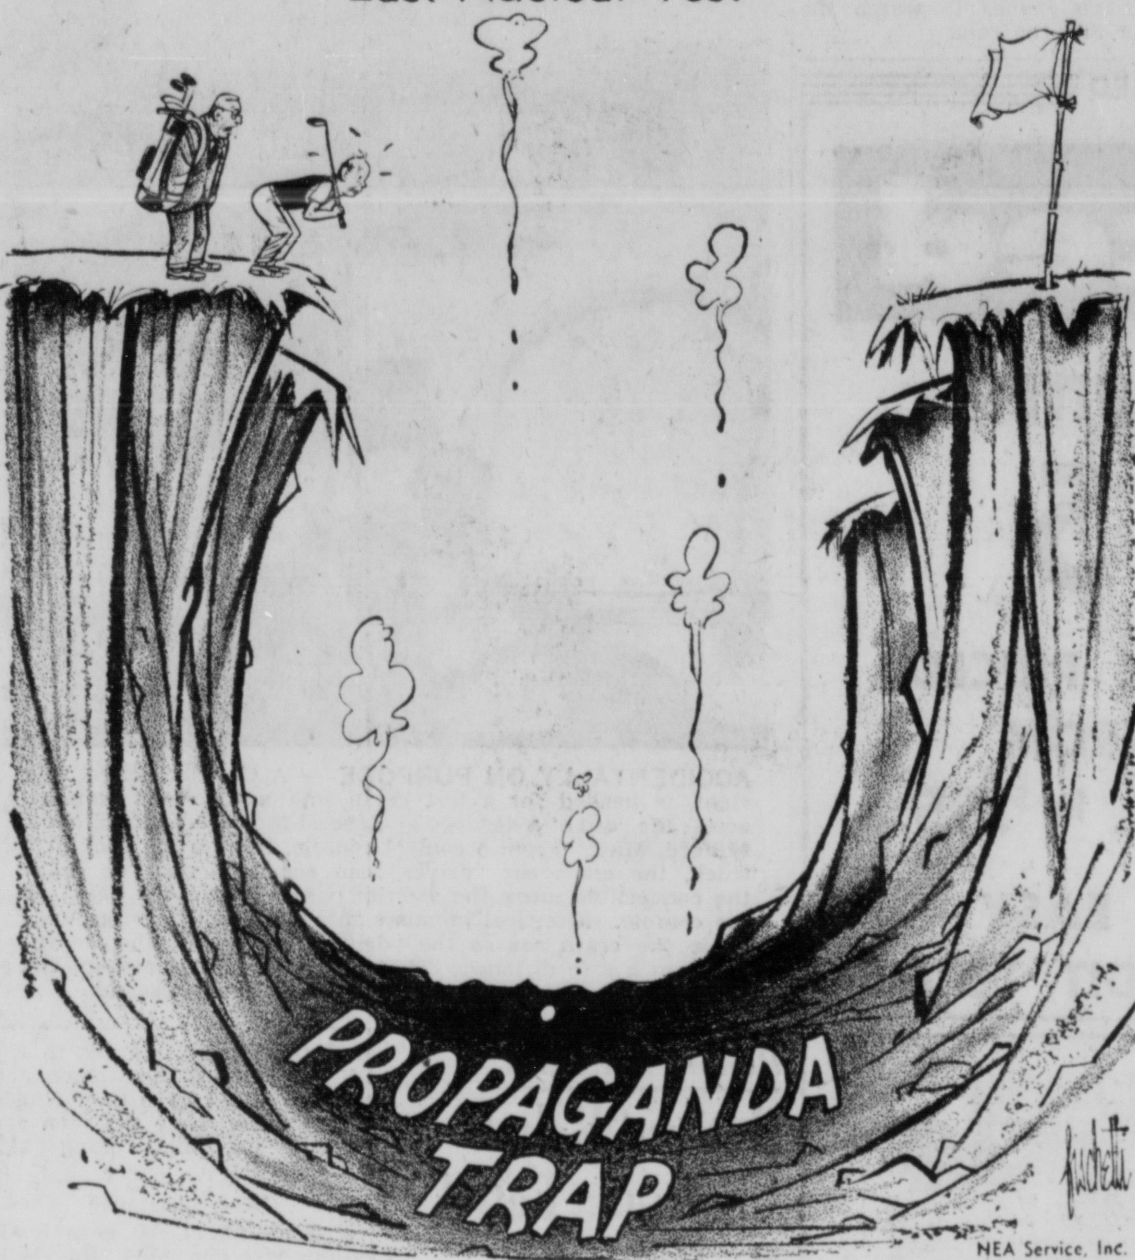

One of the three which he names is classified as a tranquilizer and is recommended for short term treatment only (not longer than two weeks). The second drug is a chemical preparation used principally in the treatment of ulcer of the stomach. The third drug is a tablet containing a steroid hormone and other preparations used primarily in various forms of rheumatism.

Although it seems strange that anyone should take so many preparations at the same time, what is more important is that these active drugs were continued so long. It is not surprising that the writer shows undesirable symptoms!

Also, in the course of trying to battle the symptoms of multiple drug poisoning, the writer took caffeine, which is another potent drug, and mentioned the use of a considerable number of sleeping pills. Altogether he was taking at least five different drugs.

There must be a good many people today who are suffering from swallowing too many pills!

Washington News

BY PETER EDSON

NEA Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON, (NEA)—Congress went home for its annual 10-day Easter recess with a clean record.

It hadn't done much.

Congressmen will return to Washington in mid-April, wiser and perhaps sadder men. They could learn much from the constituents they visit while at home.

This could change completely the Congressional Record—there's four months to go before adjourning in time to campaign for the November elections.

The Congressional Record summary of April 1 showed 46 measures passed by both Houses and signed into law by the President during the first three months of this year.

This includes four appropriations bills.

Three are supplemental appropriations for the current fiscal year. They increase government expenditures by over four billion dollars—mostly for national defense. They were passed with cuts of only 10 million dollars below administration requests.

On the first regular money bill for next year—appropriating over four billion dollars for treasury and post office expenditures—the cut was only 13 million dollars. This is about one-third of 1 per cent.

This shows how last year's "economy drive" has evaporated.

ONE OTHER IMPORTANT change of congressional sentiment in recent weeks has been the shift away from national defense measures. More emphasis is now being put on programs to relieve the business recession.

April 11, 1958—Miss Olive McDaniel was chosen as May queen at Kingston High School with Jane Ball as maid of honor.

New measles cases were reported here with the total at 66 since April 1.

The Board of Public Works voted to buy 10 pairs of rubber tired wheels for the city's "white wing" carts still in service.

Mrs. James C. Hamilton, of Stephan Street, died.

April 11, 1948—Area fishermen were awaiting the first run of shad in the Hudson.

Plans were in progress here for observance of Public Health Nursing Week, this date, through April 17.

The Ulster County Civil Service Commission scheduled an examination for May 22 to fill 10 stenographer and typist positions in county offices.

The century-old Woodland Valley house of Evelyn Craig was damaged by fire.

The first two to clear Congress before recess will cost 3.6 billion dollars—1.8 billion to stimulate housing construction and 1.8 billion more for highways.

Congress also passed a farm bill to freeze price support levels. But that met a presidential veto.

Overriding the veto would cost the government 290 million dollars.

Other anti-recession measures to be acted on after Congress returns include extension of unemployment insurance benefits aid to depressed areas, easing of credit restrictions, possibly a public works program and last but not least an income tax cut and/or reductions in excise taxes.

THE WHITE HOUSE, for its part, has not been too speedy in getting its proposals before Congress.

Presidential plans for reorganizing Department of Defense and setting up the proposed National Aeronautics and Space Agency—NASA—just made it to the Hill before Congress recessed.

These are highly controversial proposals. They will call for prolonged hearings and much debate.

Other White House recommendations already before Congress are given little or no chance for passage. Included:

Proposals to shift responsibility from federal to state and local governments for disaster relief, civil defense, juvenile delinquency, child welfare, urban planning and other grant-in-aid programs.

AMONG THE IMPORTANT MEASURES on which Congress will have to act are:

The 3.9-billion-dollar foreign aid and mutual security programs, postal rate increases to bring in 700 million dollars, increases in government pay scales to cost 444 million dollars, a 1.5-billion-dollar increase for surplus farm products disposal, a 145-million-dollar aid to science and general education program.

Additional high priority items on which there is no price tag: Provision for presidential disability, sharing of atomic secrets with U. S. allies, statehood for Alaska and Hawaii, reciprocal trade agreements extension, regulation of union welfare funds and various labor law amendments.

Nearly all of the public laws passed so far this year have been noncontroversial acts and dogs.

Among the 26 passed last month were such things as how to weigh the evidence on drunk driving tests in District of Columbia, giving Montana state police jurisdiction over Blackfoot Highway and changing the Petrified Forest national monument to a national park.

So They Say..

BARBS

By HAL COCHRAN

It heads off a lot of work being done when people who have nothing to do spend their time with someone who has.

The main thing that is accomplished at most conventions is setting the date for the next one.

Shortly now we'll be getting that first real breath of spring—the outdoor burning of household trash.

A writer says that everybody learns something every day. Just think what terrible memories do to that.

Easily Explained

CHICAGO (AP)—You have the thermostat set at 70 on a cold day, yet you are chilly. Why? A maker of automatic indicators says an indoor thermometer isn't an accurate measure of comfort. Engineers say it's because heat travels from a warm surface to a cold one. Heat is drawn from your body by cold indoor surfaces such as windows and walls which react directly to outdoor conditions. The colder they get the more body heat you can lose.

Educators Seen in Error In Blacklisting Magazines

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON—"Book burning" got a lot of criticism not so long ago from many quarters. Yet the idea of imposing economic penalties on the press, for printing what it considers to be news, still survives in America among certain groups. It raises a question of whether they really believe in "freedom of the press," to which they constantly pay lip service as an ideal.

Thus, the National Association of Secondary School Principals has just sent out a letter from its Washington office to the principals of approximately 20,000 junior and senior high schools recommending that they threaten "Time" and "Life" magazines with a cancellation of school subscriptions "as long as they have an attitude and policy inimical to education."

Calls "Life" Untruthful

The organization which sponsored the letter is a division of the National Education Association, and the action was taken by the seven-member executive committee of the principals. The association of principals argues in its letter that it doesn't question the right of the magazines to hold opinions on public education but that no magazine should be purchased for classroom use if it is "untruthful and, in this instance, 'Life' falls into that category."

The article to which exception is taken appeared in the March 24 issue of "Life" and concerned statistics alleging that science, mathematics and foreign languages are neglected studies in United States schools.

Question of Censorship

Whether the article on such a controversial subject is palatable to the high school officials is not the real issue. What is important as a basic principle is that school principals undertake to act virtually as censors themselves may be considered to have a vested interest.

Even if a particular article is wrong, certainly the publishers are willing to print the other side. To threaten, however, to use the power over public funds as a punitive instrument to make any publisher conform to the viewpoint of any branch of the government is inimical to the whole spirit of constitutionalism.

Educators' Act Surprising

As for the two magazines in question, they doubtless will pick up subscriptions from persons who disagree with the school principals which will more than make up for those discontinued. So, from an economic standpoint, the threat will be no avail. But it is startling to see a group of educators make the mistake of thinking that the way to change the attitude of a publication is to use governmental funds as a means of coercion.

Diversity of thought rather than conformity of thought has always been taught heretofore in the classrooms of America, and it is to be hoped the secondary school principals will reverse their action and acknowledge their mistake. (Reproduction Rights Reserved)

BABSON on BUSINESS

By Roger W. Babson

Babson Park, Mass., April 11.—Usually I do not comment at length on foreign affairs. However, recent developments in the Middle East could have far-reaching effects upon U. S. business. Therefore, I think readers may be helped to know my reaction to these happenings.

The formation of the United Arab Republic, consisting of Egypt, Syria and, eventually, Yemen, is a feather in the cap of President Nasser of Egypt. It will enhance his bargaining power with both East and West.

The new Republic is born of the traditional Arab hostility to the State of Israel and of Nasser's fear of the power of the feudal Arab Kings of Iraq, Saudi Arabia, and Jordan.

This new Union means that Nasser may have nearly absolute power over both Egypt and Syria and perhaps over Yemen as well. It means that he can exercise a greater control over shipments of oil and other goods through the Suez Canal and that he can stop, at will if it becomes desirable, the flow of oil through Syrian pipelines to the West.

Will There be a Single Arab Oil Empire?

Many observers believe Nasser's dream is to create a United Arab empire. To do this, the Egyptian leader must break the power of the feudal Arab Kings. Nasser is still a popular figure in the Arab world. He has tangled with Israel, Great Britain, and France and come out fairly well. Although he has not been able to better the lot of the average Egyptian, he has captured the imagination of the masses. It is just possible that he may break the power of the Arab Kings and effect, for a time at least, a single federation of all the Arab states. This would be due to their common interests in oil and their common fear of the State of Israel.

However, for the moment, Nasser's dreams of an oil empire have been jolted by Iraq and Jordan, whose Kings have proclaimed a separate Arab Federation. To such it is possible that King Saud of Saudi Arabia may eventually adhere. In agreeing to form this federation with Jordan, Iraq may defect from the Baghdad Pact which binds her to the West.

No Early Stability in Middle East

Nasser will drive hard bargains with European and American oil interests operating in those areas over which he can exercise some control. During the next few years, tensions in Arab lands will be high. The flow of oil to Europe may again be cut off or slowed to a trickle. Certainly, it will cost more!

There will be no early stability in the Middle East. The two chief "battlers" asking one of its record programs to play "My Polka Lovin' Gal." The request, however, arrived too late. The station had been off the air seven years.

FOUR MORE REASONS FOR "ULSTER COUNTY'S" GROWTH!

ALFRED SCHMID
Trustee

As owner of a mail order company with presently over 2000 agents, Mr. Schmid has long been prominent in business circles. For the past 12 years, he has served as President of the Board of Trustees of the Home for the Aged. He's also been President of the Kingston Board of Education for 6 years, Past President of Rotary, and Past President of the Kingston Welfare Board. He is a former director of the Kingston Chamber of Commerce, and is presently a trustee of the YMCA and the Children's Home. He has served as a bank trustee since 1944.

ROGER H. LOUGHRAN
Trustee

Mr. Loughran is currently attorney for the Ulster County Savings Institution and serves as secretary on the Board of Trustees. In addition to many community activities, he was a director of the YMCA, a school trustee, and Justice of the Peace in the town of Hurley, and is a member of the Bar Association. It should be mentioned he also served as a Submarine Commander in World War I. Mr. Loughran has been a trustee since July 19, 1949, following in the footsteps of his father, Dr. Elbert Loughran, who was a former president of the bank.

CHESTER A. BALTZ
Trustee

As president of C. A. Baltz & Sons, Inc., for over 38 years, Mr. Baltz is no stranger to business circles. On July 1, he will have completed a 10-year tenure as a member of the Board of Education. He is president of the Board of Trustees of the YMCA, a trustee of the Home for the Aged, and a Charter Member of the Kingston Kiwanis, serving as president in 1926. A member of the First Presbyterian Church, he has served as a bank trustee since October 18, 1949.

HOWARD C. ST. JOHN
Trustee

Succeeding his late father, Howard R. St. John, Howard "Jack" C. St. John was named trustee of the bank only last year. Chosen, "Outstanding Young Man of the Year" in 1955 by the United States Jr. Chamber of Commerce, Mr. St. John was one of five selected for the honor in New York state. He is district attorney for Ulster County and a prominent member of the County Bar Association, serving once as its president. He spent 3½ years in the Air Force, 2½ of which were spent in the China-Burma-India theatre. He is actively engaged in much community work and is associated with organizations too numerous to mention. He has served as driver chairman for many charitable organizations and is a member of the Old Dutch Church of this city.

Like any business, a bank does not progress or become successful without able direction and intelligent planning. These requisites are usually found in men who have proven themselves in their respective fields as well as the community.

While size of a bank is not its only criterion of judgement it does however reflect somewhat the type of leadership that bank offers its depositors. It reflects too the faith these depositors have in their bank, or more correctly, the officers and trustees who determine their bank's policy and direction.

Army Officer Is Guilty in Assault On Korean Boy

SEOUL, Korea (AP)—Capt. Marvin E. Kemp of Kilmichael, Miss., was convicted today of assaulting a 14-year-old Korean boy who was nailed in a packing crate and was flown 25 miles.

A general court-martial fined Kemp $200 a month for six months, ordered reprimanded and forbidden to hold a command post for six months. The sentence will be reviewed automatically by higher military authority.

Pleaded Guilty

The 40-year-old Army maintenance officer had been charged with assault, illegal confinement and conduct unbecoming an officer. He pleaded guilty to the first two and the third was withdrawn. The maximum penalties to which he could have been sentenced were 3½ years imprisonment, dismissal from the Army and forfeiture of all pay and allowances.

The boy, Kim Choon Il, was caught Feb. 25 with stolen goods at the 8th Army Aircraft Maintenance Center at Ascom City, where Kemp was in charge of shop maintenance. Kim said Kemp hit him and kicked him with a knife before he was nailed in a box and flown by helicopter to another U. S. base. There soldiers heard his whimpering and released him.

The helicopter pilot, Maj. Thomas G. James, 40, of Plymouth, Pa., lost his command of the maintenance center and accepted mild punishment without trial. M. Sgt. Robert E. Weidensaul of Pottstown, Pa., is awaiting court-martial on charges of assault and illegal confinement. His trial date has not been set.

Sunday Masses in Sacred Heart Church will be at 8, 10 and 11 a. m. Novena to Our Lady of Perpetual Help followed by benediction. Holy Mass Saturday 8 a. m.

Harriman Signs Bill For August Primary

ALBANY (AP)—Gov. Harriman today signed the Republican bill setting the primary election for Aug. 12 and the state political conventions for Aug. 25 and 26.

The Democratic governor said he did so reluctantly. Many voters away on vacation will be "disenfranchised" by scheduling the election for August, he said. He favored a June primary.

The Republicans have decided to hold their nominating convention in Rochester. The Democrats are considering Rochester and Syracuse.

The conventions will nominate the candidates for governor, other statewide offices and for U. S. senator.

Youth, 18, Ithaca City Marshal in Off-School Hours

ITHACA (AP)—Eighteen-year-old Mike Kelly has a unique after-school job—he's a city marshal.

No, he doesn't carry a gun—just subpoenas, summonses and processes.

Mike is a graduate of Staunton Military Academy in Virginia and is taking post-graduate work at Ithaca High School. He'd like to enter the U. S. Air Force Academy.

Following his graduation from military academy, Mike began working as a process server for an Ithaca attorney last summer. By the end of the year, he was working for 24 lawyers.

Recently City Judge Edward J. Casey appointed Mike acting marshal.

His crew haircut and youth, Mike finds, are a big help in serving summonses.

GROTON, Conn. (AP)—Submarines, like history and women's fashions, repeat themselves.

Fifty-eight years ago today, the U. S. Navy received its first submarine. It resembled a shark and had only one propeller.

Next month the Navy will launch its newest atomic sub, the Skipjack. It also will look like a shark and have one propeller.

But there's a whale of a lot of difference.

J. P. Holland's submarine of 58 years ago, the Holland, burned gasoline and could stay under water for less than an hour. It measured 54 feet.

The Skipjack will cruise under atomic power and will be able to circle the globe without surfacing. It will measure 250 feet.

But, in the design sense, the Skipjack and the Holland are not far apart.

In the years separating the Holland and the Skipjack, American submarines took on lines much like the torpedoes they fire.

Radel Suggestion For Building Site Told Supervisors

The Athletic Field on Cornell Street and Smith Avenue, adjacent to the New York Central Railroad, has been suggested as a site for a new county building by Mayor Edwin F. Radel.

A communication to the Ulster County Board of Supervisors to that effect was presented Thursday evening.

In suggesting the site Mayor Radel called attention to its availability and accessibility from all points of the city and stated that there was ample land available to parking.

The Athletic Field for many years was used as a center for athletic events and in later years has been used during the baseball season but otherwise is unused.

The communication was filed. Erection of a county building at this time was recently rejected by the board of supervisors when the proposition, sponsored by the Republican majority members, failed to meet a two-thirds vote necessary to authorize a necessary bond issue. The Democratic members of the board opposed the proposal. Land adjacent to the Ulster County Tuberculosis Hospital on the Boulevard, owned by the county, was the proposed site.

He has actively associated with the Kingston Area Community Chest and is a member of its board of directors. In 1957, he served as city chairman of the cerebral palsy fund campaign.

Graduated from the Englewood, N. J., and New York University, where he attended law school, Haltermann served as assistant deputy state administrator for the U. S. Savings Bonds in New Jersey, and has served as area chairman of the Oil Industry Committee for Orange, Rockland, Sullivan and Ulster Counties.

He is married to the former Mary Bryan Mellor of Englewood, N. J. They reside with their four children, three sons and a daughter, at 299 Main Street.

"We feel confident that Ulster County residents will respond generously to this year's fund campaign as they have in the past," Haltermann said, "to assure continuation of the many splendid services offered the cerebral palsied and physically handicapped."

Divided in five parts, the concert will include compositions by Salvador Rosa, Alessandro Scarlatti, Kasper Othmayr, Johann Philipp Krieger, Hans Lee Hassler, G. Ph. Telemann, Charles W. Gluck, Alexandre Georges, Harold Schmidt and P. A. Trindell.

Also listed is the aria of Ismeron from the "Indian Queen" by Henry Purcell, a 17th century composer. Franz Schubert, Robert Schumann, Richard Strauss and Johannes Brahms are represented in Mr. Wolff's repertoire for Sunday, which should be a gala date in Woodstock musical history.

The rally will start at the Palenville Service Center, with drivers meeting at 12:30 p. m. First car will leave at 1:30 p. m. Everyone interested is invited to participate and the rally is open to all types of cars.

The previously selected date for the 4th annual Concours and Car Capers will be July 6th, with the rain date July 13. Many new events for the Car Capers are now being planned by committee members who feel that this concours and car capers will be the largest and most successful to date.

The next meeting will be held on May 4 at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Gibson of Woodstock.

Jaycees to Elect Officers on April 17

Educator Says Post-War Marriage Boom Is Ended

ST. LOUIS (AP) — A Chicago educator, citing the economic slump as a factor, says there are indications that the post-war marriage and baby booms have ended.

Dr. Philip M. Hauser, chairman of the department of sociology at the University of Chicago, said the nation's 1957 marriage rate of 8.9 per cent for each 1,000 population was the lowest since 1933. He attributed the decrease to the recession and to the fact that fewer people are reaching marriageable age because of the lower birth rate of the depression 30s.

He told the Central States Conference of the American Public Welfare Assn. last night that the number of marriages and births always have been related to the business cycle.

Elizabeth Taylor Return Before Cameras Monday

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Elizabeth Taylor, described by her friends as a heart-broken widow, is expected to return to work Monday.

The raven-haired actress has not been before the cameras since three days before her husband, producer Mike Todd, and three others were killed in a New Mexico plane crash last month.

A studio source announced yesterday that Miss Taylor said she will resume work in "Cat on a Hot Tin Roof." She had worked eight days on the film before Todd's death.

Self-Employed Advised to Fill Complete Returns

With the filing of tax returns by April 15, most self-employed people are building additional protection for themselves and family under the social security law it was stated today by George J. Johnson, district manager of the social security office. Mr. Johnson also advised that this included the professional self-employed who were first covered by Federal insurance in 1956.

In order to secure proper credit, it is necessary that the returns be accurate, and complete with the required schedules, it was stated. Attention was called to the fact that compliance with the rules will not only save time and money now but will insure the prompt receipt of future benefit payments.

Mr. Johnson stated that benefit payments under the old-age, survivors, and disability insurance program are not based on charity or need, but are geared to the wage or self-employed income level of the worker. Monthly payments for an individual range from $24 to $108.50 depending on the average income. Family benefits can amount to as much as $200 monthly.

Since the advent of self-employed coverage in the Federal program, Mr. Johnson stated the records of the Kingston Office indicated many such persons had qualified, and are currently receiving benefit payments.

Also of interest among the protective features of the social security law is the new disability program which started first benefit checks beginning with July 1957. This added provision protects the participating self-employed individual just the same as a wage earner. Mr. Johnson added that it was important for a disabled person with a work history under the program, to contact the social security office as soon as possible in order to protect his rights.

The Kingston, N. Y. social security office is located at 61 Albany Avenue. This office serves the residents of Ulster and Sullivan Counties on all matters pertaining to the old-age, survivors, and disability insurance provisions of the Social Security Act.

IBM Appointment

OWEGO—International Business Machines Corporation today announced the appointment of James R. Connell as purchasing agent at the company's manufacturing plant here. He was previously manager of marketing services at Owego. Connell joined IBM in 1949 at Endicott. He has served in various engineering posts at Owego, and as administrative assistant to the general manager. He was appointed manager of marketing services early this year. Connell holds a B.S. degree in mechanical engineering from the University of Michigan, and an M.S. degree in industrial management from Massachusetts Institute of Technology.

Savings Banks Meet April 23, Elect Officers

The 65th annual meeting of the Savings Banks Association of the State of New York will be held April 23 at the Commodore Hotel in New York City, Daniel T. Rowe, president, announced today.

More than 400 trustees, presidents and executive officers of savings banks from throughout the State are expected to attend, Rowe said.

"Real Estate in the Months Ahead" will be discussed by James C. Downs Jr., chairman of Real Estate Research Corporation, Chicago. "What's Ahead for the American Economy?" will be the subject of Dr. John Langum, president, Economics, Inc., Chicago. "The Human Bankers" will be the subject of an address by Dr. Ormond Drake, director, Town Hall, New York City.

Election of new officers will also be held.

Think It Through

By E. F. HUTTON
OUR DAY AND AGE

The successful operation of soil conservation by farmers has proved that the operation of the Free Enterprise System is more effective and less expensive in the hands of a free people than any system run by means of subsidies.

That's it, neighbor. We have a darned-sight too many "regulators" in our economy; too many tax collectors snooping over the taxpayers' books, demanding to know this and that. A lot of farmers want to get the Government off their backs.

A neat question to ask the tax boys is, "What do you do with the do-re-me that you take from us taxpayers? And how do you spend it at home and abroad? That's a hot one! It is almost impossible to get an honest accounting from Government. The honest answer would be, 'The Government spends your dough; but when you make it your business, you will be taxed less.'"

Returning to the farmers, two millions of them are participating in soil and water conservation throughout the country. Their work has a real cash value. It has been proved that conservation farming increases the annual net farm income by 6 to 15 $'s per acre. And believe me, neighbor, the country needs the farmers!

Well, Mr. Non-farming Neighbor, let's get behind the plow and walk on the side of every farmer who wants to produce for the market and not for a Government warehouse.

PHOENICIA NEWS

PHOENICIA—There were 12 members of the M. F. Whitney Hose Co. Auxiliary present at the meeting held in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Rudolph Zatloukal Monday evening. The members voted to give a donation to the newly formed Phoenicia Library.

The next meeting will be at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Rubin Rider in May.

Mrs. Ralph Draffen of Grand Gorge spent Easter with her sister, Miss Frances Hill.

The Rev. Larry Wincentzen baptized Charles Osborne at the worship service in the Methodist Church Easter Day. The flowers in the chancel were given by the Breithaupt family and the Thimble Club in memory of departed members and by Mr. and Mrs. J. Short and Mrs. William Grant in memory of William Grant. Mr. and Mrs. Edward Staudt of Kingston presented a wooden lectern to the church, which was used for the first time on Easter Sunday, in memory of their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Alonzo Wright who were faithful members of the Methodist Church for many years. The lectern was designed and created by Oscar Hanel of Chichester.

Mr. and Mrs. Dennis Fleming and two daughters of Brooklyn are spending Easter week with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Rudolph Zatloukal.

Mr. and Mrs. William Wrixon Jr. and daughter, Robyn, and son William III and Mr. and Mrs. Calvin Smith, daughters Joann, Christine and Patricia of Nichols were weekend guests of Mr. and Mrs. William Wrixon Sr. of Woodland. The Smith children remained with their grandparents for the week, Mr. and Mrs. Eleanor Tucker of Brooklyn also were weekend guests of the Wrixons.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Bernstein and family had dinner with Mr. and Mrs. George Meister and daughter Shawn in Chichester Thursday.

Mrs. Floyd Finch, her daughter, and her mother Mrs. Adrian Loomis flew to Tombstone, Ariz., last week to visit Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Schankenbergh. Easter Monday Mrs. Schankenbergh gave birth to Bruce Frederick Jr., who weighed 6 pounds.

Both the Lanesville and Phoenicia Methodist Churches have decided to send copies of the devotional booklet, The Upper Room, to all of the members of the congregations. Lanesville mailings began with the March-April issue; the Phoenicia mailings will begin with the May-June issue.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter A. Smith and Mr. and Mrs. Bud Wright and Mrs. Lucille Miller, worthy matron of Mt. Tabor Eastern Star Chapter, Hunter, attended the meeting of the Clinton Chapter in Kingston Wednesday.

The late Gilman Marston of New Hampshire was arguing a complicated case, and had looked up authorities back to Julius Caesar. At the end of an hour and a half, in the most intricate part of his plea, he was pained to see what looked like inattention. The judge was unable to appreciate the nice points of his argument.

"Your honor," he said. "I beg your pardon, but do you follow me?"

"I have so far," answered the judge shifting wearily about in his chair, "but I'll say frankly that if I thought I could find my way back, I'd quit right here."

Four Are Graduated

Four area men were graduated from recruit training April 6 at the Naval Training Center, Great Lakes, Ill.

They are:
Richard A. Mackewitz, son of Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Mackewitz, Oakridge Road, Ellenville; Leonard C. Rider son of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth J. Rider of Route 2, Accord; Robert L. Millett, son of Mr. and Mrs. William J. Millett of 14 Grant Street; and William A. McCabe, son of Mr. and Mrs. William A. McCabe of Legion Court, Port Ewen.

The graduation exercises, marking the end of nine weeks of "boot camp," included a full dress parade and review before military officials and civilian dignitaries.

In nine weeks of instruction, the "raw recruit" is developed into a Navy Bluejacket, ready for duty with the fleet.

Completes Basic

Robert Millett, seaman apprentice, USN, has completed recruit training and is now spending a 14-day leave at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Millett, 14 Grant Street, according to Ray Boyle, BMI, USN, of the local Navy recruiting office. He selected as his choice the high school seaman program whereby the Navy was able to guarantee him trade school training in that field. Upon completion of his leave, he will report to the service school command at the Naval Training Station, Newport, R. I., to commence the course of instruction as a storekeeper. This course covers such subjects as general stores afloat, clothing and small stores, provisions and practical work. The local bluejacket enlisted in the Navy in January 1958 through the local recruiting station, Room 209, Central Post Office.

On Maneuvers

Two Ulster County servicemen are scheduled to participate in "Exercise Eagle Wing," a 101st Airborne Division maneuver at Fort Campbell, Ky., April 16 to 30.

They are: Army Sgt. Donald A. Bushnell, 27, son of Mr. and Mrs. Donald C. Bushnell of Marlboro, and Pvt. Justus H. Richard, son of Mrs. Betty Dressel of 15 Apple Street, Kingston.

Assigned to Headquarters Company of the division's Command and Control Battalion, Sergeant Bushnell entered the Army in August 1950.

The sergeant, whose wife, Sharon, is with him at the fort, was graduated from Union Endicott High School. In civilian life he was employed by Crowley's Milk Co., Newburgh.

Richard, a driver in the division's 86th Transportation Company, entered the Army in July 1957 and completed basic training at Fort Knox, Ky.

The 17-year-old soldier attended Kingston High School.

Giving Wrong Age Data For Drink Violation

ALBANY (AP)—A person who lies about the age of a youth to help him get a drink will risk a fine and jail sentence beginning July 1. Gov. Harriman today signed bill making it a violation to misrepresent the age of a person to help him procure alcoholic beverages. The maximum penalty is a $50 fine and five days in jail.

The law now makes it an offense for an under-age person to misrepresent his own age to get a drink but does not cover the possibility of misrepresentation by someone else. The legal age for purchasing liquor in New York State is 18.

Calm Ends Next Week

Streamline of Defense Dept. Expected to Cause Dispute

By JAMES MARLOW
AP News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP)—Washington's relative calm—it's been fairly quiet since Congress went home for Easter—ends next week when the legislators pour back for the last half of their 1958 sessions.

This Congress already has done a lot of work—far more than usual for this time of year—but it has plenty ahead. Probably the most explosive issue is President Eisenhower's plan for streamlining the Defense Department.

Two Reasons for Showing

Members of both parties have had a double reason for trying to make a good 1958 showing: (1) There's a recession and (2) this is an election year for all 435 House members and one-third of the 96 senators.

The election campaign has started already. The Democratic boss of the House, Speaker Sam Rayburn of Texas, proclaimed before the Easter holiday that this Congress under Democratic leadership has made a very impressive record, indeed.

Hits at Democrats

Meade Alcorn, Republican national chairman, took a pre-Easter swipe at the Democrats, saying their leadership seems more interested in "concocting a phony political pitch for the fall elections than in the general welfare."

These are the main issues facing the returning Congress members:

1. Possibly a tax cut, if the recession gets worse.

2. Eisenhower's Defense Department reorganization plan. Already there's opposition from some Democrats and Republicans. Eisenhower has promised to fight all the way through on this.

Next Thursday, he'll carry his case to the people in a nationwide TV broadcast. The main complaint against his plan is the power it would give to Secretary of Defense McNamara, more power than any defense secretary ever has had.

Strenuous Fight Seen

There may even be a strenuous fight, openly or behind the scenes, by the armed services themselves.

3. The reciprocal trade program, first set up by President Roosevelt in the midst of the depression of the 1930s, and renewed ever since.

Under this the President is empowered to cut tariffs on imports from countries which in turn agree to cut their tariffs on imports from America. In this recession period there has been pressure to keep tariffs up to keep competition out.

4. Foreign aid. This program—which involves loans, grants and military hardware to other countries—was set up under President Truman and has been pushed by Eisenhower.

5. Appropriations. Congress still has to approve the big appropriations bills—the money needed to run the government another year.

Road Litterbugs Will Draw Stiff Penalties July 1

ALBANY (AP)—Beginning in July, New York State can make things messy for the highway litterbug.

Gov. Harriman yesterday signed a bill prescribing stiff penalties for persons who toss papers and other trash from car windows.

The law, effective July 1, makes it an infraction to throw "refuse, trash, garbage, rubbish, litter or nauseous or offensive matter" on a street or highway or along the right of way.

These are the maximum penalties:

First offense, $50 fine and 15 days in jail; second offense within 18 months, $150 and 45 days; third offense within 18 months of the first, $250 and 90 days.

Sen. William S. Hults Jr., Republican from Port Washington, L. I., sponsored the bill.

Wants Arm Patch

POCATELLO, Idaho (AP)—Postal workers held up delivery of a letter addressed, "To the nicest patrolman on the force, Police Department, Pocatello, Idaho." The letter was stamped, "No such person at address given."

But genial Chief John Perkins and his men are going to prove the post office wrong. They are responding to the request of Skip Hall of Killen, Tex., for a police arm patch to add to his collection.

OLD AUTOMOBILE: The expression jalopy for an automobile started in the 1900's. Because of a shortage of autos in Mexico, many old ones shipped to Jalapa, Mexico for resale, thus the corrupted term "jalopy" arose for an old automobile.

Hollywood News, Views

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Auntie Mame is in town.

Rosalind Russell, alias the irrepressible Mame, has started work on the film version of the hit comedy she played on Broadway to packed houses until recently. When I hustled out to Warners for an audience with her, I found her in a chic pair of beaded pajamas. Yes, the same pair she wore as emcee on the Academy Awards telecast.

Calls It Daring

The outfit raised some eyebrows but many applauded Roz, or Mame—it's hard to keep the two straight—for trying to put some flair into the fairly staid Oscar event. She isn't a bit sorry about it.

"It was rather daring of me, I admit," she said rattlingly. "But I figured I might as well have a little fun with it."

"After all, there is just so much you can do with women's clothes at an affair like the Academy. You can either try to outdo the others in the plunging neckline or you can try to go all-out in the bouffant ball gown. I decided to try a complete departure."

I think the public wants to see a little dash in women's clothes from movie stars. I know when I was a fan we used to love to go to the movies and see what gorgeous clothes Constance Bennett was wearing. You don't get that clothes-horse routine from pictures any more."

Fantastic Outfits

Roz is bringing it back in "Auntie Mame" with a vengeance. She has a collection of fantastic outfits that will give the dolls plenty to talk about.

It appears that Roz won't be finished with Mame even after the film is made. She is now in the midst of reading the manuscript of another tome from the prolific Patrick Dennis, "Auntie Mame Around the World."

"It's very funny stuff," she said. "He has Mame and her actress friend and the 17-year-old boy going to Europe and getting enmeshed with the international set. There is already talk of making it into a stage musical but I shudder to contemplate undertaking it. At any rate, it may well mean another picture about the dear old girl."

Roz won't go back to the stage "Auntie Mame" after the picture, but Mame will be getting plenty of circulation. There will be four companies in the U. S. with such stars as Greer Garson, Eve Arden and Sylvia Sydney. Another company has played for months in Hawaii, one is starting in Australia and others will be springing forth in Scandinavia and all over Europe.

"I think they'll like Mame anywhere," Roz observed. "Even if people don't realize what's going on, they'll be taken in by how much fun they're having on the stage. And there's something about Mame that makes everyone like her. Maybe it's that people would like to be as gay and carefree as she is."

Nikita Khrushchev's propaganda recipe is simple: Get there first with the most.

Kremlin propaganda often is poor and in some cases plain bad. It has won many skirmishes, but it has yet to wrap up a major battle.

Massive Organization

But the Red drive never lets up, never lets the enemy catch his breath, never gives him a chance to take the offensive. The United States spends its energies reacting to Soviet initiative.

In psychological warfare, the Russians long ago adopted the slogan: Always attack. The Communists devote a huge share of their resources to propaganda. A massive organization under trained experts is at it night and day. Nothing is about Soviet propaganda is new—only the events upon which it capitalizes are new. The technique of the whopper, used effectively by Nazi Germany, long has been a Kremlin standby. The techniques of alternate threat and blandishment, letters and resounding pronouncements, have been in use for decades.

These techniques pile up Soviet gains by default, through lack of any coordinated Western effort to take advantage of glaring Soviet weaknesses. For all its glitter, Communist propaganda succeeds often because many in the non-Communist world are long on hope and short on memory.

Basic Outlines Same

Soviet propaganda blows hot or cold, depending upon internal conditions or opportunities. It imprisons within an over-all fixed pattern. Its tone may change, but the basic outlines are permanent.

Throughout the cold war, Soviet propaganda has kept the same goal. It seeks to break up Western alliances and bases, remove physical barriers to Red expansion, alienate the West from sources of raw materials, destroy Western influence in uncommitted areas, and eliminate popular suspicion of communism abroad.

The Western effort fundamentally has been concerned with halting Red advances. Western policy contained communism in Europe and prevented the spread of physical Communist control except where the Reds resorted to open warfare.

Convinces Some

In the skirmishes, Red propaganda extended Soviet influence in the Middle East and Asia. It convinced some leaders there that palpably pro-Soviet policies can bring economic and military aid. But even in those areas, it was far from eliminating suspicion of Kremlin intentions.

Red propaganda won some engagements in the West, too, but it has yet to separate any nation from its protective alliances. Its successes have resulted from a fear campaign pitched to the threat of nuclear war and the bandwagon effect of criticism of American responses.

Kremlin failures included the denunciation of Stalin and his subsequent reinstatement as a Communist hero, the revolts against Soviet domination in Hungary and Poland, the current war on revisionism which forces the Kremlin to restate clearly the principle that Moscow must dominate every aspect of world communism. Other shocks included the bloody purges in the wake of the Beria case, the ouster of Malenkov as premier, the purge of old Bolsheviks as anti-party, the destruction of Marshal Zhukov's reputation, the return of one-man rule under Khrushchev.

Lack of coordinated effort in the West helped Khrushchev in his latest gesture—the announced decision to end nuclear weapons testing—unless the West tested again. That came immediately after the Russians had completed a long test series.

The Communists were jolted in 1955 by President Eisenhower's open skies plan for mutual aerial inspection. The Russians first rejected it, then reconsidered, attacked it again and reconsidered again.

If that had been a Soviet gesture, the world would not have been permitted to forget it. All the might of the Kremlin propaganda machine would have repeated it over and over, as it has Khrushchev's various proposals. Repetition is the soul of Soviet propaganda.

Air Force Probes Bomber Blast, 4 Hurdled to Death

NORTH COLLINS — The Air Force began searching today for the cause of the explosion that shattered a B47 Stratofort bomber yesterday and hurled its four crewmen to their deaths.

The medium bomber, on a routine training mission out of Lockbourne Air Force Base at Columbus, Ohio, was nearing an Air Force tanker to refuel shortly before noon when it blew apart near this village, 20 miles south of Buffalo.

Most of the B47 fell in two blazing pieces of wreckage, scattering bits of metal, technical manuals and other debris over a five-mile area.

Crewmen of the KC97 tanker, which is stationed at Dow AFB, near Bangor, Me., said the planes were about three miles apart, 15,000 up, when the bomber suddenly burst into a ball of flame.

The victims were identified by the Air Force as Maj. Harold L. Kelly, 34, of Columbus; Lt. Col. John Robert Flyer, 38, of Lockbourne; 1st Lt. Robert Tellier, 26, of Columbus; and 1st Lt. Albert Gene Moncla, 24, of Columbus.

The 92-ton plane is a type used by the Strategic Air Command to carry nuclear bombs, but the Air Force said there were no nuclear bombs aboard.

Lt. Charles Lund, of Sandstone, Minn., pilot of the tanker plane, said the aircraft were in radio contact but that there was no indication from the bomber of any trouble aboard.

Lund radioed for help when the plane blew apart and circled the crash area until other aircraft arrived.

Teen-agers Take Charge of Youth Dance on Tonight

A teen-age committee will be in charge of arrangements for the first spring teen-age canteen dance sponsored by Saugerties Youth Council tonight in Saugerties Municipal Auditorium at 8 p. m.

Roland Mayone Jr., will serve as master of ceremonies and the dance committee will include Pat Sasso, Nancy Misasi, Daryl Hargrave, Karen Jacobs, Pamela Hargrave, Robert Francello and Albert Giannotti Jr.

Awards will be available for several dance contests including the ball dance, ballroom dance, rock and roll and the ring dance.

All teen-agers in the Saugerties area are invited to attend. There will be no charge for admission and refreshments will be free.

Ping-pong and various other table games will be available for those who do not care to dance. Johnny Michaels and his nine-piece orchestra will play from 8 to 11 p. m. through an arrangement with Local 215, Kingston and provided through a grant from the music performance trust fund of the recording industry.

Mrs. Albert L. Giannotti Sr. is chairman of the adult committee.

VFW Loyalty Day Essay Winner Knows Meaning

The true meaning of loyalty in one of the prize winning Loyalty Day essays was sincerely expressed by Linda Boettcher, 12, daughter of Mrs. Laura Lewis of High Woods. She is a seventh grader in Saugerties Central School.

The essay contest is conducted annually in conjunction with the observance of Loyalty Day, Saturday, May 3. The observance is conducted by Saugerties Memorial Post 5034. VFW includes the annual awards dinner at VFW Hall Wednesday, April 30 and the parade through the main business section of Saugerties on May 3. A brief ceremony is usually held at Cantine Memorial Field after the parade.

The essay on the theme, "Why Loyalty Day" follows: "Before anyone can fully feel

Pay of N. Y. Public Officials Ranks Above That of Neighboring States

By CHARLES DUMAS

ALBANY — Is an aide to the New York Legislature worth more at the pay window than the governor of Pennsylvania? Or as much as the governor of Massachusetts?

Are New York's state senators and assemblymen underpaid, as some claim, at $8,500 a year? What is a reasonable salary for a legislative employee?

In some respects, these questions may rate with the classic teaser—how high is up? It depends upon viewpoint, and there are many factors to consider.

Get Handsome Rate

Because of a continuing furor over legislative payroll practices in this state, The Associated Press undertook a study of one such factor—the practice elsewhere.

The survey shows that, in comparison with large neighboring states, New York pays its high-level public officials at a handsome rate indeed.

For example, at the very top of the upper bracket, Gov. Averell Harriman draws $50,000 a year, making him the highest-paid governor in the nation. He governs a population of 15,000,000.

Pennsylvania, with a population of 10,500,000 pays Gov. George Leader $25,000 and Massachusetts (pop. 5,000,000) pays Gov. Foster Furcolo $20,000.

Top Jurist Pay

New York also has the top-salaried jurist in the nation, Chief Judge Albert Conway of the Court of Appeals, who was boosted this month to $45,000 a year.

Farther down the scale, departmental heads and other important government officials in New York draw up to $25,000. In Massachusetts, they earn $15,000. Pennsylvania, a recent raise has brought them to $20,000, the very highest level to $22,500.

No legislative employee in either of the nearby states commands more than $15,000, whereas in New York one legislative aide collected $35,600 last year. Others drew $20,000 or more.

Consider $20,000 Ceilings

New York's legislative leaders now are considering a $20,000 ceiling on their employees' pay. This still would be well ahead of Massachusetts and Pennsylvania.

It also would equal the pay of Massachusetts' governor.

Public attention was focused on New York's legislative payroll last winter when newspaper studies disclosed many questionable practices.

Some employees were revealed to be drawing surprisingly high salaries. The $35,600 paid to Saul Kaplan, counsel to the Assembly's Democratic minority leader, made him the fourth highest paid state official in 1957.

Other employees apparently were performing little or no service in return for their pay. Many legislators employed relatives and political pals.

Will Probe Matter

As a result of these disclosures, Republican and Democratic legislative leaders ordered a special investigation of the whole matter. A committee of the Senate and Assembly will do the job.

It could be that the committee will have something to say about the lawmakers' salaries, too. In 1957, the rank and file clamored for a pay boost, but the leaders said no.

Senators and assemblymen in New York are paid $7,500 a year. In addition each receives a $1,000 annual allowance in lieu of itemized expenses.

The chairmen and ranking minority members of some of the more important standing committees of the Republican-controlled Legislature qualify for extra expense allowances ranging up to $5,000 a year.

Rate Big Allowances

The legislative leaders themselves rate still higher allowances. The speaker of the Assembly and the temporary president of the Senate collect $14,000 in addition to the $7,500 basic pay, for a total of $21,500.

The Assembly's majority leader and the minority leaders of the Senate and Assembly each draw an extra $12,000, for a total of $19,500.

How does this compare with their counterparts across the state line?

In Massachusetts, rank and file members draw $5,200 plus $400 in expense money, for a total of $5,600. The speaker of the House and the president of the Senate receive $10,400 in salary plus the $400 allowance, for a total of $10,800. They also are reimbursed for travel and other expenses.

Paid on 2-Year Basis

In Pennsylvania, the Legislature meets every other year, instead of annually. The lawmakers are paid on a two-year basis.

Rank and file members draw $3,000 in salary plus $6,000 in lieu of expenses. That is $9,000 every two years, or the equivalent of $4,500 a year. Committee chairmen receive an extra $1,000 bi-annually.

The leaders of the two houses receive the same $9,000. But the Senate president also has at his disposal a $10,000 contingency fund and the House speaker a $12,500 fund. The totals thus are $19,000 and $21,500 for two years—or $9,500 and $10,750 a year.

Here is a capsule comparison: Rank and file—New York, $8,500; Massachusetts, $5,600; Pennsylvania (one-year equivalent), $4,500.

Top leaders—New York, $21,500; Massachusetts, $10,800 (plus miscellaneous expenses); Pennsylvania (one-year equivalent), $9,500 and $10,750.

In Congress, where legislating is more of a year-around job, the pay is $22,500 for senators and representatives. The speaker of the House draws $35,000.

Congressional employees are limited by law to $14,000.

Taber Opposes

Tax Cut Now as

Recession Move

ITHACA — Rep. John Taber says he opposes an income tax cut as a means of combatting the current recession.

The Auburn congressman, ranking Republican on the House Ways and Means Committee, said the largest individual cut would be about $50 and this would not increase purchasing power much. Taber predicted that pay raises for the armed forces and postal workers would "start another round of inflation."

Two More Saugerties Girls Are Registered For Newsmen's Page One Queen Competition

SANDRA RUTH SMITH

HEATHER GRAFF

Two more Saugerties entries in the Page One Queen Contest sponsored by the Kingston Newspaper Guild have been received.

They are Heather Graff of Mt. Marion, a Saugerties High School senior, and Sandra Ruth Smith, 16, of 229 Main Street, Saugerties.

Other entries from Saugerties are: Kay Moose of West Camp, the current Miss Saugerties; Rosemary John of Barclay Heights, first runner-up of the 1956 Miss Saugerties pageant; and Gretchen Coons of West Camp, a Miss Saugerties finalist.

The contest will be held at 2:30 p. m. Saturday, April 26, at the Governor Clinton Hotel at which time five judges will select a queen and two runnersup who will serve as her attendants. The third annual Page One Queen will be crowned at a formal dinner and dance Saturday evening, May 3, at the Governor Clinton.

She will be the recipient of a silver loving cup, gold charm bracelet and gifts totaling more than $500 from Kingston and area merchants.

Miss Graff, a finalist in the Miss Saugerties contest in 1957, is editor of the Saugerties High School paper, Ulsterette. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. Dussol of Mt. Marion.

Miss Smith, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Smith, is employed at the Fessenden Shirt Co., Inc., Kingston. Her hobbies are collecting stuffed animals and small dolls. She also likes dancing, enjoys singing and may be seen frequently on area roller skating rinks.

Entries should be mailed to Mrs. Dorothy Narel, Page One Queen Committee, Rondout Post Office Box 153, Kingston, N. Y. Any young lady between the ages of 16 and 25 when her entry is received is eligible. Deadline for entries is Tuesday, April 22.

Congresswoman, Guest At ROAC Dinner May 1

Mrs. Katherine St. George of Tuxedo Park, congresswoman from the 28th Congressional District will be the guest of honor at a dinner given by the Reserve Officers Association Chapter of Orange County at Stewart Air Force Base Officers Club Thursday, May 1 at 7:30 p. m.

Members and their wives from ROA Chapters in Orange, Rockland, Dutchess, Putnam, Westchester and Ulster Counties will be present.

Reservations may be made through Major John R. Gross, 105 Water Street, Newburgh; Lt. Commander Harold Gratton, Stewart Air Force Base, Newburgh and Lt. Col. Richard W. Platt of 26 Pine Street, Cornwall-on-the-Hudson.

Mother of Three Mrs. N. Y. of 1958

OLEAN (A)—An attractive, dark-eyed brunette who runs a home, sells real estate and pinch hits for teachers at the neighborhood schools will be New York's choice for Mrs. America of 1958.

She is Mrs. Carlton H. Russow, a 38-year-old mother of three girls, ages 11 to five.

Because the judges picked her last night from among the six women who competed for the state title, she and her husband get a free trip to Ft. Lauderdale, Fla., where the national contest opens May 1.

Mrs. Russow is a former farm girl who brags she outscored 42 boys in a dairy contest when she was 18.

She used to teach school full-time at her home near Buffalo. Like her husband, she is licensed to sell real estate.

Runnersup in the contest was Mrs. Ethan Allen Mapes of Friendship.

Citizens went to Mrs. Raymond Radke of Tonawanda for excellence in the home-making competitions; Mrs. William Wilson of Wellsville for planning menus for children; Mrs. Irving Feinberg of Buffalo for artistic table settings; and Mrs. Guy Luciano of Vestal for making the most interesting desert.

There were no parades in bathing suits.

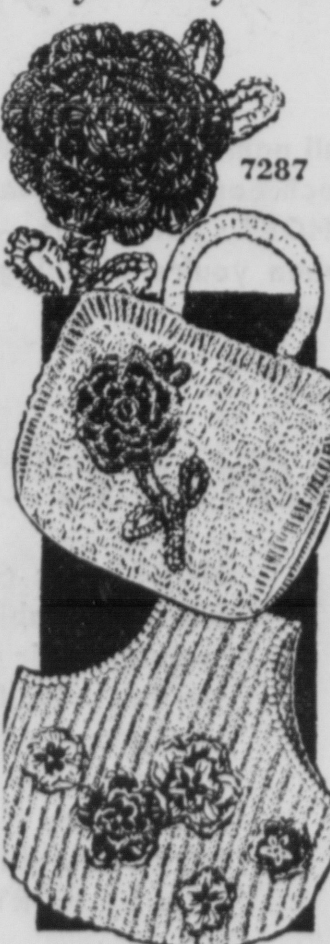

Esopus Lions Club Card Party Slated Tuesday, April 15

The Town of Esopus Lions Club has scheduled its second annual card party for the benefit of the sight conservation fund Tuesday at the Town auditorium, Port Ewen, at 8 p. m. Chairman Vernon Frost announced today.

Clifford Every is chairman of the prize committee. The refreshment committee is under the direction of Joseph Costello. John J. Smith reported that there are tickets available from each member of the Lions Club even though the sale of tickets has been very good.

The proceeds from this annual card party are used exclusively for aid to the blind or persons suffering from poor eyesight. In cooperation with the schools of the Town of Esopus many children have been aided in the past who might not have been able to get proper care of their eyes. This fund not only furnishes medical aid but also glasses where needed. The fund also sponsors braille aids to the totally blind in the Town.

MRS. ELMER B. SPENCER JR.

Ruth Imogene DuBois of Saugerties Weds Elmer B. Spencer Jr., in Easter Ceremony

Trinity Episcopal Church, Barclay Heights, Saugerties was the scene of the wedding of Miss Ruth Imogene DuBois, daughter of Mrs. George E. DuBois of 12 Russell Street, Saugerties, to Elmer B. Spencer Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Spencer Sr., of South Broadway Park, Lexington, Ky., Easter Sunday, April 6 at 2 p. m.

The double ring ceremony was performed by the Rev. Peter W. O. Hill, rector of Trinity Church. For the occasion the sanctuary was decorated with Easter flowers.

Rolland Heermance of Saugerties, soloist sang "The Lord's Prayer" and "Oh Perfect Love," to the accompaniment of Mrs. William C. Plimley, organist.

Given in marriage by her uncle, Earl Schoonmaker of New Paltz, the bride was attired in a gown of nylon embroidered tulle fashioned with a fitted bodice, short sleeves and a bateau neckline edged with hand-clipped medallions. The very full skirt was floor length highlighted by a ruffled tulle underskirt. A matching Queen Anne headpiece secured the ice blue French illusion veil fingertip length. She carried a colonial bouquet of feathered carnations and stephanotis touched with blue.

Author of "Children Are People" and "Etiquette," etc.

HIS STATUS HAS CHANGED

Dear Mrs. Post: My fiancé made a bet with a young woman in his office about a certain matter. The loser was to take the winner to dinner and a show. My fiancé won the bet and the young woman in question is planning to take him out some evening. At the time the bet was made we were not engaged but since then our engagement has been announced. I think under the circumstances it would be wrong for my fiancé to go out with her even though he did win the bet. People seeing them together will have no way of knowing about the bet and it will surely start tongues wagging. What do you advise in this situation?

Answer: I agree with you that your fiancé should explain to the young woman that he is engaged, and let her off paying her lost bet.

Catching the Bride's Bouquet

Dear Mrs. Post: I am in my early thirties and have been a widow for two years. I was a bridesmaid in a friend's wedding recently and when the bride threw her bouquet before leaving the reception, I gathered around her with the other bridesmaids (all single young women) and I caught the bride's bouquet. I heard criticisms later about my taking part in this as I was a married woman. I thought I had a right to try as I no longer have a husband. Will you please tell me if I was wrong?

Answer: As you are without a husband, you were certainly not wrong for trying with the others to catch the bouquet, and their criticism of you was unjust.

If Church Permits

Dear Mrs. Post: I am going to be married soon and I would like to know if it would be proper to have the selection "My Hero," which is a favorite of mine, sung by the soloist during the ceremony?

Answer: The answer depends upon whether secular music is permitted in your church. If it is, it would be quite all right. If not permitted in the church it could certainly be sung later at the reception.

Where do the bride and groom stand in the receiving line? Mrs. Post is sorry she cannot answer personal mail. Questions about wedding procedure, the receiving line and other details are answered in leaflet E-2, "Wedding Procedure." To obtain a copy, send 10 cents in coin to Dept. EP, c/o The Kingston Daily Freeman, P.O. Box 99, Station G, New York 19, N. Y.

Four County 4-H's Selected to Attend New York State Fair

Four Ulster County 4-H Club members have been selected to attend the New York State Fair at Syracuse, August 29 to September 6. The girls achieved this honor by being chosen in the Blue Ribbon group at the Sub-District 4-H Demonstration Day held Tuesday, April 8, at the Ellenville Central School.

Martha Larsen a member of the Stone Ridge Busy Beavers Club demonstrated the making of "Rolls." Martha will compete with other Blue Ribbon girls in the bread contest for the coveted honor of representing New York State in the National Contest.

Margaret Mary Gaffney of the Highland Merry Homemakers, a fourth year 4-H Club member repeated her demonstration on "Poultry Luncheon." Margaret Mary will compete with the hopes of representing New York

State at the NEPCO Exposition with her Poultry Foods Demonstration. The New York State representative to this event will be chosen at State Fair.

Donna Dayton and Kathleen Gaffney, members of the Triboro 4-H Homemaking Club led by Miss Rose Capozzi will participate in the State Dairy Foods Contest at State Fair. They will repeat their demonstration entitled "Dairy Buffet." This will be Donna's and Kathleen's second trip to State Fair to participate in the State Dairy Foods Contest.

Janet Nickerson of Katsbaan also attended the Sub-District Demonstration Day and repeated her demonstration "Nutritious Salads." She received a red ribbon in the General Foods Group.

Any boy or girl between the ages of 10 and 21 years may enroll as 4-H members and participate in the 4-H Club program. For further information about the 4-H program, contact the 4-H Club Office, 74 John Street.

Be sure to refrigerate custard but serve it as soon as possible.

Spring Dance Plans Are Completed by Hospital Auxiliary

Final plans for the annual spring dance sponsored by the Benedictine Hospital Auxiliary were discussed at the regular meeting of the auxiliary Wednesday evening.

The report on the dance was given by Mrs. John Cooke Jr., co-chairman. The event will be held Saturday at the Governor Clinton Hotel with dancing from 9 p. m. to 1 a. m. The LaFolce Brothers Orchestra will provide the music. Tickets will be available at the door.

Mrs. Edward Dolan, president of the auxiliary, greeted the auxiliary members present at the meeting. Reports were given by Mrs. George Beichert, sales card bookkeeper, Mrs. William Teegan, baby photo picture chairman and Mrs. Robert Stenson, baby photo order chairman.

Mrs. Joseph Robertson, membership chairman, introduced two new members. They are Mrs. John McFadden and Mrs. Kenneth Charlton.

Mrs. Joseph Scholard Jr., ways and means chairman, announced plans for a public card party sponsored by the auxiliary some time in the early fall.

Sister M. Berenice, administrator of the hospital, spoke to the group concerning the spring dance and the volunteer work of the auxiliary.

Hostesses for the evening were Mrs. William Powers Jr., Guy Valeo, Donald Abernethy, and Robert Deegan.

Use Small Amount of Water
Cooking vegetables in a small amount of water helps keep their fresh flavor. You can cook snap beans that are Frenched, for instance, in one-half cup of boiling water if you use a heavy saucepan and maintain simmering with low heat.

Overall Conditions Poor for Trout Season Opener Tomorrow

by Charles J. Tiano

Spring is for dreaming of the future.

Winter has loosened its long, white tentacles from the necks of hardy natives of the temperate zone and the calendar says it's time for baseball, golf and sundry sports to bust out in full flower.

Ageless and season-less, bowling goes babbling on like Tennyson's brook. There is no beginning, no end, to the modern tenpin cycle, once a September-to-March proposition, now a year-long marathon.

The tenpin madness, enveloping man, woman and child alike, has extended down the Atlantic seaboard to the southernmost fringes of Florida. Once the state of Delaware represented the farthest geographical extremity of the sport that was spawned and flourished in beer halls and back rooms.

Today the state of Florida is a hotbed of bowling. It wasn't so many years ago that Maryland, specifically Baltimore, was the duckpin center of the nation, along with Hartford (Conn.). South of Baltimore there was nothing.

Big pins, as they are called down south, have flourished for some time in Miami and the West Palm Beach area. There are two giant establishments operating in St. Petersburg, with two others planned. The ten-pin crazed citizens patiently wait in line for a fling at the tenpins. Like golfers at a heavily saturated club, they sign the roster, do their shopping, lounge around and come back two hours later to launch their gyrations on the approaches of the alley beds. Good sport, they say in England, but not for this department.

Television Does Selling Job:

Many factors have contributed to the phenomenal growth of bowling on a nationwide basis. The first was the evolution of the establishments from down-stairs layouts to palatial modern buildings, spacious, well-lighted, attractive to man and woman alike. They have been strategically located on main traffic arteries, with huge parking lots and catering to every whim of the kegler.

The impact of television on bowling cannot be discounted. The electronic marvel has done a tremendous public relations job for the sport. And proprietors and promoters across the country, long among the most wary public relations specialists in sports, have come to realize the value of publicity and the financial bonanza it has realized upon them.

Bowling has become a major sport and there are more persons involved in bowling than in any other participant sport. The game has been brought into millions of living rooms by TV and common bowling terms that were once nothing but gibberish to the housewife and the unknown are now common household words. A turkey is not something you devour on Thanksgiving Day, but three strikes in a row. A double is not a two base hit in baseball or something like you like to guess at the race track, but merely two strikes in a row. Bowling terms are just plain everyday talk now.

Another Title for Ferraro:

A perusal of the latest Hudson Valley League statistics reveals the overwhelming domination of Kingston and Poughkeepsie bowlers. You have to move seven places down the list before you find the name of Wally Gerken, the Newburgh veteran, who is battling at 193.53.

Johnny Ferraro figures to capture his upteenth individual average crown, a monotonous habit he developed many years ago, but still needs a solid series at home Saturday night to minimize powerful threats by his teammate, Jerry Oster, and Dick Rhea, the stylish portside from Poughkeepsie.

Jones Dairy boasts three of the top six shooters in Ferraro (199.51), Oster (198.50) and Chris Gallo (196.61). The Dutchess Recs counter with Rhea (198.39), Phil Versace (197.49), George Baird (198.87). Jones has outpinned the Recs in team average, 974 to 962, but the Recs have the pennant carefully wrapped up. That is still the primary target.

74 Racing Nights

Monticello Raceway To Open June 27th

Officials of the new Monticello Raceway assured yesterday that the new $5,000,000 oval will be ready as planned on June 27. Fourteen nights are slated for the 74-night racing season.

Franklin E. Devlin, president and general manager of the Sullivan County Harness Racing Assn., will release the stakes program today.

With nine races scheduled nightly except Sunday, minimum purses will be $800 and maximum $10,000. The winner of the Monticello leg of the Trans-America pacing stake on Aug. 15 will receive a $10,000 purse.

Meet the Press

Directors of the track met the press at a luncheon in Leone's Restaurant arranged by Walter T. Brown, director of public relations and advertising.

George P. Monaghan, Harness Racing Commissioner, confirmed that the track would open on schedule despite the 10 feet of snow that fell in the mountains last winter. The track received the eighth and last harness track license allowable under the state pari-mutuel law.

Racing will start at 8:40 nightly, with the daily double windows closing at 8:25 p. m. The last race will be off at 11:40. Sullivan County in peak season draws 603,000 vacationists.

High Waters, Heavy Snow Cited Cause

Stream conditions will not be good for the opening of the trout season which starts one minute after midnight tonight. The weather isn't expected to be much better, but anglers, nevertheless, are expected to be out in droves at the familiar spots.

William Goodman, district game protector of the Kingston office, said today that overall conditions will be poor and they are expected to remain that way at least for three weeks in the Esopus area.

Heavy Snow

He explained that the abundance of snow and the heavy waters and discoloration will make conditions unfavorable for that length of time.

Goodman said the Esopus is very high and off-color though not muddy except where they pass clay banks. Water temperatures are in the high thirties, and the runoff of high snows is gradual because of freezing nights.

Tributaries Best

The best bets would be the Esopus tributary brooks, Little Beaverkill, the Chichester, Woodland Valley streams and the Saugerties and Ellenville areas where the waters are still and the temperatures higher.

The Portkill which carries water from Gilboa Reservoir to Esopus Creek, is closed and will be for some time, which ought to help bring the creek down to normal.

There will be plenty of action in the Ashokan Reservoir, although conditions there won't be any better than any other waters. Goodman said. It will be open to pike fishermen on the same day with the trout season for the first time.

Canadiens Hold 2-1 Edge in Cup Playoff Final

MONTREAL (AP)—The Montreal Canadiens, riding high on a 2-1 victory in the opener of the Stanley Cup final, chafed at a have-fists-will-fight challenge to the Boston Bruins for tonight's renewal of the hockey classic.

"Let 'em go ahead," said Montreal coach Toe Blake. "If they're going out there to try to whack us around they'll find out we have a few guys who can do some whacking on their own."

The Tuesday opener of the best-of-seven series was a rough-house, penalty-studded affair. There isn't the slightest indication that tonight's get-together of the hard-hitting teams is going to be any different.

"We are not worrying about the Bruins' rough play," said Blake. "We're used to that. What gets me is that when they get a penalty they start crying. Why can't they take their penalties and keep quiet?"

Boston general manager Lynn Patrick made it plain that the Canadiens can expect the same sort of treatment tonight—jarring bodychecks.

"We don't play good unless we're hitting the other team hard," said Patrick. "We aim to keep it up. We like to get that first goal."

Calder Cup Play Pairs Hershey, Springfield Clubs

HERSHEY, Pa. (AP) — Hershey Coach Frank Mathers doesn't figure to relax because Springfield, and not Cleveland, will be his Bears' opponent tonight in the opening game of the American Hockey League Calder Cup final playoff.

The Indians, who defeated the favored Cleveland Barons Tuesday night in overtime, to win their semifinal series, arrived here with a fine playing edge and in good shape for the start of the best-of-seven final series.

The Bears have been idle since they clinched their set with the Providence Reds Saturday. All were ready for tonight's action except reserve forward Ed Pangabko, who injured his ankle in Saturday night's game.

Biggest Night of Season

Chris Gallo Slams 662 Series; Bill Sinsabaugh Topples 644; Rheingold Beer Fires 3050

Kingston's major league keggers were hotter than pistols last night, racking up a seasonal record harvest of thirteen 600 triples and one new team series standard.

Chris Gallo, anchor of Boulevard Gulf's squad in the Ferraro Major, led the strike happy trundlers with a 662 series on lines of 173, 243 and 246.

Rheingold Beer set a new team standard of 3050 in the Ferraro Major, eclipsing the old mark of 3044 held by Boulevard Gulf, on game slams of 976, 1018 and 1056.

Other "600" shooters in the Ferraro loop included Buster Ferraro 624, Cliff Davis 614, Jerry Oster 647, Herb Petersen 620, Randy Kelder 617, Larry Petersen 612.

Bill Sinsabaugh toppled sets of 215, 223 and 206 for 644 high triple in the Sportsman's Major. Fred Schryver posted 614, Dave Schroder 610, Frank Weishaupt 604, Frank Grimaldi 600, Charlie Manfro 608.

Jones Dairy's Sportsman squad slammed 1074 for best score of the night. Gov. Clinton Market scored 1059-1003.

It's Official Now-- Johnny Nania Out

The Board of Education at Middletown has refused to renew the coaching contract of Johnny Nania, who reportedly had been under fire for some time.

The action did not come as a surprise. It was announced some time ago that the board would not retain the former Duke lineman, who joined the coaching staff five years ago, succeeding Ed Rodiek.

Prior to Wednesday's meeting, Nania staged a valiant job to keep his coaching job, which pays $600.

He was asked to step aside in February by Ralph L. Shattuck, superintendent for the "good of the school, the team and himself."

During his five-year tenure, Nania's record showed 11 victories, 22 defeats and three ties. The board, needless to say, didn't approve of the record and felt that Nania was devoting too much time and emphasis to the game itself and not winning.

No mention of a successor was made at the session.

Greensboro Open Tries Again Today After Washout

GREENSBORO, N. C. (AP) — A field of 130 golfers was ready to try it again today in the $15,000 Greater Greensboro Open Tournament which was washed out yesterday.

The tournament is the official kickoff of the Professional Golf Assn. summer tour. But temperatures yesterday were in the mid-40s and rain persisted two hours after the tee-off.

A 36-hole windup has been scheduled for Sunday to make up for the lost day. After 18 holes today and 18 tomorrow the field will be trimmed to about 75 for the final, double round.

Sam Snead seeks his seventh victory, the first coming in the 1938 inaugural. Lined up against him are such worthies as Ken Venturi, Billy Casper, Jay Herbert, Art Wall, Doug Ford, Mike Souchak and Stan Leonard, the defending champion. Fourteen of the current 25 money-winning leaders are in the field that will play on the Starmount Forest Country Club.

Wet Track Grooms Quantico Relays

QUANTICO, Va. (AP) — Overnight rain soaked Butler Stadium for the start today of track's 1958 eastern jumpers and strong men were on hand for the marine-sponsored Quantico Relays.

Ron Delany, Ira Murchison and a host of the nation's other track notables were entered in the two day event, a preview of what outdoor competition may be like in the balmy months ahead.

Delany, after some hesitation, was assigned to run in team races for Villanova but was scratched from the mile feature of Saturday's program. The withdrawal of Delany, a Villanova import from Ireland, was a disappointment.

Ron, the Olympic 1,500-meter champion, will get to run at least one mile as anchor man of his school's distance medley quartet this afternoon. He may also spin a half mile in Villanova's spring medley unit.

Jaycee Little League Sets Registration

Registration for the Jaycees Little League will take place on April 14, 16 and 18 at 6 p. m. at Forsyth Park. All boys who played last season and are eligible for competition this year and hopefuls are requested to appear for registration with their birth certificate.

SYRACUSE (AP) — The St. Louis Falstaffs took over first place in the Open Team Division of the American Bowling Congress last night to climax a day of brilliant scoring.

The Falstaffs 1060-1034-1116 — 3210 salvo cut short the reign of the Jenny Five Team, from Rochester, N. Y., which had assumed the lead Wednesday night after shooting 2990.

Only two scores in the 55-year history of the ABC have exceeded the Falstaff total. The all-time record is the 3234 posted in the 1948 show by the Birks Brothers of Chicago, the Tri-Par Radio Team of Chicago shot 3226 in 1954. Steve Nagy, the St. Louisian's burly anchorman, led the parade last night with a 729. His score sheet for the thirty frames involved was clean of splits and errors.

The Marcal Products of East Paterson, N. J., moved into fourth place on the same squad with 964-965-1043-2972.

Another St. Louis team, the Airport Bowl, rolled 1003-996-921 — 2920 and moved into an eighth-place tie with the John Zaboliet Highway Supt. of Buffalo, N. Y.

Don Phelps of Minneapolis, Minn., provided some of the day's early excitement by roaring into the Singles lead with a 223-279-225-727 series.

Bill Byard of South Charleston, W. Va., battered the pins to a 751 tune in the Doubles but got only 550 pins support from his partner, Allen Wells. The duo's 1301 was enough to boost them into first place, however, in the two-man category.

Byard's 246-256-249 skein was the highest in the first thirteen days of the 72-day tournament and the highest he has ever rolled in his life.

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Jan Cornman, a bowler who averages 147, had a banner night with her first 600 series. She rolled scores of 188, 244 and 190 for a 622 total and won the Columbus Women's Bowling Assn. singles title.

60 Boys to Play in Four Team Circuit

A four-team baseball league for boys between the ages of eight and 12 has been organized by residents in the Barman's Park area.

The circuit to be known as the Metropolitan Knot Hole League will be regulated by Little League rules with some modifications.

Walter Dougherty has been named president of the league; Raymond McSpirt, vice president; G. Weeks, secretary; Victor Amell, treasurer.

Advisors are John Holochuck, director of the Kingston Boys' Club and Bud Zoller. Also operating in the program is Andrew Murphy III, superintendent of Kingston Recreation.

The league will be supervised by area adults, who will serve as managers, coaches and umpires. All players will be covered by insurance and all teams will be properly equipped. Uniforms will be jerseys and caps.

Boys who will not reach their 13th birthday before July 1 and reside in the Barman Park area are requested to make applications at the Boys' Club.

Provide Recreation
Holochuck said the purpose of the league is to provide supervised recreation for boys in the Barman area who are not participating in other group activities during the summer.

The league will carry 60 boys, 15 on each team. Practice sessions will start in mid-May.

Others in addition to the officers named who have played a part in the organization are:

Hawks Still Fear Injured Celtics

By DAVE O'HARA

BOSTON (AP) — The St. Louis Hawks still feared the injury-riddled Boston Celtics today while one game away from their first National Basketball Assn. championship.

"We aren't right yet and the Celtics still are a great ball club," cautioned St. Louis Coach Alex Hannum last night after the Hawks' 110-100 victory for a 3-2 advantage in the best-of-seven series.

"I think maybe the Celtics are slowing up a little, but we're scared stiff of them whether they have Russell or not," declared former Kentucky star Cliff Hagan.

With Russell sidelined with a severe ankle injury and backcourt ace Bill Sharman hobbled by a twisted knee, St. Louis built up a 15-point halftime lead and then held on to win the vital fifth game.

The Celtics, refusing to quit in defense of their NBA title, fought from nine points behind in the final two and a half minutes, but couldn't overtake the Hawks.

Frank Ramsey, who took over the offensive burden and led the Boston scorers with 30 points, hit on a long set shot to draw the Celtics within a point—101-100—with seconds remaining.

St. Louis took the ball out as Boston went into a full court press and Slater Martin of the Hawks fouled.

The Celtics protested that St. Louis did not advance the ball past midcourt in the maximum seconds, but the argument to the referees.

"They took more than 10 seconds—but what the heck," said Boston Coach Red Auerbach. "We have to shoot better than we did—and we had better in St. Louis Saturday."

YMCA Cage Finals Set for Saturday

The finals of the YMCA playoffs between Harry's Angels and Wimpy's 1 will be held at 7:15 p. m. Saturday on the "Y" hardwoods. Both teams have won two games in the crucial series for the championship trophy.

Harry's won the National Division and Wimpy's copped the American crown. The latter topped Blacktops in the semifinals while the Angels romped over Minute Car Wash.

Bud Smith and Ronnie Scheffel are the keymen in Wimpy's lineup, while George Carpozis, Champ Holstein and Dick Terlingen are counted on heavily to carry the Angels through.

Hockey Prospect Brighter For Bruins' Don Simmons

MONTREAL (AP) — The world looked brighter to Don Simmons today.

The slender 150-pound goalie for the Boston Bruins of the National Hockey League was acclaimed as the key figure in Boston's 5-2 upset victory over the Montreal Canadiens last night that squared the Stanley Cup final playoff series at 1-1.

In the opening game Tuesday night he had been felled out of position on the winning goal in Montreal's 2-1 victory.

The 26-year-old netminder from Port Colborne, Ont., was plenty hot in making 31 stops. He was praised to the skies in the dressing room afterwards.

"Simmons won it for us," asserted Boston Coach Milt Schmidt. "If it hadn't been for Simmons we would have lost," said Captain Fern Flaman, rugged Bruin defenseman.

The Bruins, alerted for breaks, squelched the Canadiens with the same formula they used in knocking off New York Rangers in the semi-final playoff. They struck swiftly in the first period, racking up a 3-1 lead, and had the satisfaction of seeing the proud National Hockey League champions start floundering.

Bronco Horvath paced the Bruins with two goals. Others were scored by rookie Norm Johnson, Don MacKenney and Larry Regan.

Bernie (Boom Boom) Geoffrion and defenseman Doug Harvey scored for Montreal. Geoffrion's goal gave the Canadiens a brief 1-1 tie in the first period. Harvey's second-period goal came after the Bruins had set up a 4-1 lead.

The game followed a different pattern from Tuesday's bashing, bruising affair. The change in Boston strategy called for more attention to checking and upsetting the Montreal offense.

The third and fourth games of the best-of-seven series will be played in Boston Sunday and Tuesday.

Arnica Big Item in Homeward Trek of Big League Ball Clubs

By WILL GRIMSLEY

The Associated Press

The crack of breaking bones is rivaling the crack of home run bats and arnica is becoming an essential commodity among major league baseball teams heading toward their home bases.

For some of them, spring training is proving as beneficial as a fall down the cellar stairs.

Frank Robinson, hard-hitting young leftfielder of the Cincinnati Redlegs, was sent spinning to the dirt yesterday when he was hit on the head by a pitched ball. He became the third casualty in as many days of a rather disastrous spring baseball period.

On Monday, Harry (Suitcase) Simpson, New York Yankee outfielder, suffered a broken right wrist when he was struck by a pitched ball. He will be lost to his team for three to four weeks.

On Tuesday, outfielder Wes Covington of Milwaukee suffered a wrenched left knee when he collided with Los Angeles catcher Rube Walker in a sliding play at home plate. Covington's knee is swollen. It's hoped he may be ready for the Tuesday opener, but there's no guarantee.

These simply are a few of the more recent cases. Injury charts are causing concern all over.

Willie Mays, star centerfielder of the San Francisco Giants, got his arm clipped by a pitch. Duke Snider, the Los Angeles Dodger slugger, will not start the season because he is still bothered by the left knee that underwent an operation last winter.

Haywood Sullivan, Boston's rookie catcher, suffered a fracture of the right index finger. Then it was found he had a ruptured spinal disc which required surgery. He probably is lost for the year.

Moe Drabowsky, Chicago Cub pitcher, got out of service at Camp Chaffee, Ark., just in time to go to bed with a throat infection.

Yogi Berra, the New York Yankees catcher, has a split hand. Al Smith, Chicago White Sox outfielder, has an inflamed tendon in his right leg. Ted Williams of the Boston Red Sox, the American League's leading hitter, is hobbling around on a bad left ankle.

Williams made his first appearance in a spring game yesterday, but it proved nothing. The lean slugger went to the plate twice and twice walked as the Red Sox beat Memphis of the Southern Assn. 10-1.

Robinson's injury occurred at Portsmouth, Ohio, where the Red legs got little comfort from break-

'Won't Go Back'

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (AP) — When it was suggested that rookie first baseman Marv Throneberry might be sent back to Denver for his fourth season in Triple A Ball the 24-year-old slugger said:

"I'm not planning on going back there."

That was before the Yankees cut Joe Collins, another first baseman, off the roster.

Throneberry, a left-handed batter, hit 40 home runs and drove in 124 runs in the American Assn. last year but batted only .250. "He fanned 151 times last year," says Manager Casey Stengel. "But Ralph Houk, his manager at Denver, tells me he couldn't do without him."

"I had been swinging at bad pitches a lot," says Throneberry who was signed by the Yankees for a $6,500 bonus in 1952. "I cut down a lot on my swing playing winter ball in Nicaragua, and still I hit 16 home runs."

There are 112 pounds in the English hundredweight; 100 pounds in the American hundredweight.

Rocha Signs New Pact With Pistons

DETROIT (AP) — Coach Red Rocha, who led the Detroit Pistons to a second-place finish in the National Basketball Assn's Western Division, has signed a new contract which will run through Sept. 1, 1959.

Piston owner Fred Zollner said Rocha will be paid $13,500 for his first full year. Rocha, from Syracuse, N. Y., took over the Pistons last December replacing Charlie Eckman. Rocha, from Syracuse, N. Y., originally was hired on a contract running through September of this year.

Unclean Record

SALT LAKE CITY (AP) — New Mexico University, which lost 14 straight last season, was the first Skyline Conference basketball team ever to go through a full season without winning at least one conference game.

Police Break Up Threatened Teen Fight in Brooklyn

NEW YORK (AP)—Police last night broke up an imminent teenage gang fight in Brooklyn, seizing five youths clad in aluminum breast plates.

When two patrolmen appeared on the scene, about 40 boys were gathered. The youths fled at the sight of the officers, who nabbed five of them, from 12 to 15 years old. All were held as juvenile delinquents. Police also seized several homemade swords, lengths of rubber hose and a three-foot piece of iron pipe.

The youths captured said they had no name for their gang, but had gathered to fight it out with the "Chaplains," who several weeks ago beat up one of their friends.

Salary Hike

ALBANY (AP)—The salary of the Seneca County judge is raised from $6,000 a year to $7,000 a year under legislation approved today by Gov. Harriman.

The bill was introduced by Sen. Dutton S. Peterson, Odessa Republican.

Griffis Housing Project Seen Boon To Rome Sector

ALBANY (AP)—A $7,400,000 housing project planned by the Defense Department at Griffis Air Force base is expected to give the Rome-Utica area an economic shot in the arm.

State Comptroller Arthur Levitt said yesterday the State Employees Retirement System would finance the project, as an investment.

A mortgage-signing ceremony, signaling the conclusion of agreements on the government-backed mortgage, will be held at the State Capitol April 22. Gov. Harriman and Levitt will officiate.

Construction of the project, Levitt said, will begin shortly thereafter, with completion time estimated at two years.

The project will be built in three sections and will accommodate a total of 460 families.

Levitt said the construction will result in the employment of several thousand workers, including many idled in the current recession.

An estimated 90 per cent of all women in the United States regularly read daily newspapers.

Airmen Describe Attempt of Armed Assailant to Flee

SEOUL (AP)—Two South Korean airmen who fought off an attempt to force their plane into North Korea said they lost so much blood their armed assailant almost broke away from them.

Capt. Kim Kap Kyoo, pilot of the C46 transport, and Sgt. Chon Byong Hoon, the plane engineer, gave this account from their hospital beds:

The plane was on a flight from Taegu to Seoul yesterday when Capt. Choi Jung Il, one of seven men aboard the twin-engine plane, climbed into the cockpit and fired two shots from a .45 pistol at Sgt. Kim Sang Bok, the radio operator who was facing the intruder. One bullet smashed into Kim's forehead, killing him instantly.

Choi fired two more shots at Sgt. Chon, grazing his forehead. Then he slugged Capt. Kim and Lt. Choi Byong Lin, the copilot, on the back, shouting "Let's go to North Korea!"

Kim, a 27-year-old veteran of the Korean war, said he heard only the words "let's go..." but immediately sensed an attempt to take over the plane. He pretended not to understand and slowly turned around, loosening his seat belt as he turned. At that moment Sgt. Chon leaped at Choi, grabbing his wrist and forcing the pistol down.

Kim grabbed the intruder's left wrist and a moment later another bullet crashed through the pilot's left arm. For the next 10 or 15 minutes, the two airmen fought a blood-bathed battle with the captain. They finally forced him to the floor but had to fight several minutes more to hold him before other passengers came to the rescue. Even the pilot left the controls several times to help hold the intruder.

Capt. Choi was put under arrest when the copilot landed the plane at Pyongyang, 40 miles south of Seoul. An air force spokesman said an investigation is under way to determine whether he is a Communist agent.
